LEVEES FAIL; BATTLE FLOOD

HOOVER TO MAP OUT PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

'I'm Indian, Too,' Rogers Hails Senator Curtis

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 16.—Well, it's over here. That's one thing about these Republicans, they don't allow things to clog up.

I been telling you for days that Curtis would be the one. He is a Kaw Indian, and me a Cherokee, and I am for him. It's the first time we have ever got a break, the only American that has ever run for that high office.

So, hurrah for you, Charlie, a real two-fisted bird who used to be a jockey. Come on, Injun! If you are elected, let's run the white people out of this country.

On to Houston, to the biggest show on earth.

Yours,

WILL.

P. S.—Kansas City, you did yourself proud. It's Oklahoma that supports you and makes you a city, but I didn't hear a complaint about you. Of course, the show at times was terrible, but no show can be better than the cast.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

With the increasing good weather the number of tourists on the highways is increasing rapidly. Indications are that the roads will be dense with traffic on Sunday. All of which leads Pa Newc to again admonish all drivers to use extra precautions for safety while on the highways tomorrow.

Announcement that the Scottish Rite cathedral is open for inspection on Sunday afternoons between the hours of two to four is one that should be remembered. If you have any visitors don't let them get out of New Castle without taking a glimpse at the interior of the cathedral. It's a wonderful asset to New Castle and the more you advertise it, the better. Take your visitors to the cathedral and make a tour through the building.

No one will be given to much enthusiasm over the condition of the road leading from Rose Point into the Boy Scout camp. Deep ruts still line the road, the highway apparently not having come in for any attention on the part of the authorities as yet this summer. It is hoped that the road will be fixed before the opening of the camp season.

Rank and file of the Republicans in New Castle and Lawrence county seem to be quite well satisfied with

Hoover To Confer With Leaders On Campaign Details

Monday In Washington Will Find Hoover And G. O. P. Chiefs In Conference

WILL MAKE PLANS FOR BIG DRIVE

Hoover May Resign From Cabinet Prior To Taking Month's Rest In California

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Many of the big details of the Republican campaign will be mapped out here in a series of conferences between Herbert Hoover and G. O. P. leaders which start Monday.

James W. Good of Iowa, Hoover's convention manager is expected to arrive Sunday. A delegation selected from the Republican National committee will confer with Hoover Tuesday when the national chairman will be named.

Good is spoken of for chairman of the national committee.

In Office Early.

Hoover was in his office early again today attacking the accumulation of work that had piled up during the days of the convention. The secretary succeeded in making up a lot of lost sleep last night and a beginning once more to "settle down" to normal after the nerve racking drive for the nomination.

A large crowd was gathered in front of the commerce department for Hoover's arrival and he got a small ovation. His appearance in public is calling for frequent demonstrations around the capital.

Whether or not Hoover will resign from the cabinet before he goes to Palo Alto, Calif. for a month's rest prior to opening of the campaign has not been determined. This probably will be worked out at the political parleys here next fweek.

Discuss Kind of Campaign.

Apparently Hoover will remain in

Rescue Steamers Now Ice-Bound

Nobile And Crew Are Believed To Be Slowly Drifting Westward

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 16.—The steamer Braganza which is attempting to bring aid to General Umberto Nobile and has stranded crew, radioed that it was ice-bound near Brandy Bay, Spitzbergen, a Central News Dispatch from King's Bay stated today. The Braganza's operator stated that the relief steamer Hobby was also nemed in by the ice floes between Walen Bay and Lommen Bay. Dog teams which have been dispatched from both vessels are expected to meet at Cape Platen tonight.

A wireless message from Nobile received at King's Bay stated that his party was now drifting slowly westward, the dispatch added .It is now believed that Nobile is nearing Charles the Twelfth land.

COOLIDGE BEGINS HIS VACATION

President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge have arrived at Cedar Island Lodge on the Brule river, near Brule, Wis., for the president's last summer vacation while in office. The president is shown here on the rear of his private car that carried him from Washington, D. C., to the summer White House.

TANK CAR FIRE CAUSES LOSS OF NEAR $100,000

(International News Service)

GREENVILLE, Pa., June 16.—Twenty-nine cars are in a smouldering ruin today as the result of a fire yesterday when oil and gasoline tank cars were ignited on the Franklin division of the New York Central railroad near Hadley.

The intense heat of the fire forced the firemen back when they attempted to fight the flames. A half mile of track was burned. Loss was estimated at $100,000. The origin of the fire has not been determined.

Coolidge Spends Day Fishing

Rain At Superior Results In Visit To Town Being Deferred

MRS. COOLIDGE IS STEADILY IMPROVING

(International News Service)

SUPERIOR, Wis., June 16.—A smiling sun at Cedar Island Lodge versus a steady rain in Superior gave President Coolidge a valid excuse today to defer his initial visit to the temporary executive offices and devote himself to a Saturday of fishing.

He was up early completing yesterday's cursory survey of the elaborate Brule river camp, and when word was phoned in that Superior was apparently in for a day of solid rain, the fishing decision was quickly made. The fact that the city and Cedar Island Lodge are separated by the divide he counted on to keep the rain away from his end of the summer establishment.

Col. E. W. Starling, assistant chief of the White House secret service, who has been in the north woods for the past two weeks acclimating himself and making arrangements for the presidential advent, accompanied Mr. Coolidge on the fishing expedition.

Mrs. Coolidge meanwhile continues to rest. Although she is steadily improving Colonel James F. Coupal, the White House physician deemed it best that she submit to a few more days of complete relaxation. Miss Mildred Beet, navy nurse, is on hand to minister to her wants.

Delegates Leave Convention City Quite Confident

Republicans In Happy Frame Of Mind Over Outcome Of Convention

BELIEVE CURTIS IS FINE CHOICE

Talk Of Bolt And Third Party Dies Out As Convention Ends

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 16.—The Republicans cleared out of Kansas City today a good deal happier and confident than they thought they could be several days ago when angry and embittered farmers were storming at the doors of their national convention.

The nomination of Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas City as vice president, the party leaders believe, will do much to allay the bitterness of the radical exponents of farm relief, and the resentful valedictory of Frank O. Lowden that the Republican platform "failed to meet fully and squarely" the needs of the great grain belt.

"The Farmer's Friend"

Curtis has for years marched under the banner "The Farmers' Friend". Kansas lays claims to being the very heart of the great agricultural region that stretches from the Ohio-Indiana line to the Rockies. Curtis voted for the McNary-Haugen bill. It is true that on the question of the veto he voted to sustain the President, but he explained that by saying he deemed it his duty to do so because of his position as Republican leader of the Senate.

Of the bitterness of the farmers, or the farm organizations that were represented in Kansas City, there can be no doubt. When battalions of them, paid or otherwise, try to storm the doors of a Republican national convention it indicates that the situation, if not actually serious, at least may become so. And the Lowden statement that he did not care to be the nominee on such a platform as the Republicans adopted here was calculated to be only kerosene to the fire.

Believe Curtis Big Aid

This is the situation which the Republican leaders believe the nomination of Charley Curtis—and time—will do much to ameliorate.

The talk of "bolt" and the talk of a third party which was everywhere prevalent a few days ago, and even crept into the argument which the agriculturists' spokesmen used before the convention itself in the platform fight, had virtually all died out today.

The responsible leaders of the party believe that Curtis' nomination of

Convention Over, Kansas City Is Back To Normal

Hustle And Bustle Of Delegates Passes Into History At Kansas City

Throngs Soon Vanish From Hotel Lobbies And Traffic Moves Minus Interference

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, June 16.—This busy metropolis of the plains returned to normalcy today.

The shouting and tumult have died. The bunting, the flags, the placards, the candidatorial pictures are coming down. The snappy-looking crossing policemen, who won the praise of the delegates for their courtesy, are enforcing again the rules against "jaywalking".

The milling, perspiring, whispering throngs have vanished from the hotel lobbies. The button-holing is over. The "midnight conferences in smoke-filled rooms" are history.

The lusty-lunged Hoover bandsmen have parked their instruments until the Fourth of July festivities.

The Hoover band wagon, which looked as if it might have come straight from the circus grounds, has gone back to its regular bus route.

Tributaries To Mississippi Are Scene Of Recurrence Of 1927 Flood Condition

Workers Battle Valiantly In Attempt To Stem Progress Of Flood

(International News Service)

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., June 16.—Recurrence of the disastrous floods of 1927 along the Mississippi river tributaries was feared today as two levees, one on the St. Francis river in Missouri, and a second on the White river in Arkansas, gave way.

Water seeping through a stretch of the levee along the St. Francis river north of Kennett, Mo., caused a break in the levee today that sent water pouring through a 150-foot stretch and it is believed will inundate 125 000 acres of farm land and make 1,000 families homeless.

Eighty-nine years is a lot of time when you look at the years that are gone, or eighty-nine years is a short short time, when you think of them coming on. And I only hope if I ever reach the years of this friend of mine, that I too will have friends like the ones she has, if I ever reach eighty-nine. Just a wish or two but they're precious ones, as this young lady goes on her way, and every year she seems younger, quite, its seventy-seven today.

Thousands Of Missourians Made Homeless As Levee In St. Francis River Breaks

25,000 ACRES OF LAND UNDER WATER

Red Cross Organizes Immediate Relief For Stricken Farmers In Southwest Missouri

(International News Service)

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., June 16.—Approximately 1,000 families were made homeless when the levee of the St. Francis river broke at Kennett, Mo., 35 miles southwest of here, today.

The breaking of the levee caused the swollen St. Francis river to spread over a five-mile area, and threatened devastation to 25,000 acres of fertile land in southwest Missouri.

Extend Aid.

Red Cross headquarters were being established at Kennett for relief of the flood sufferers. Approximately 150 families were reported in immediate need of assistance.

Five Companies of National Guardsmen have been patrolling the river during the last week. Hundreds of citizens of Kennett and the surrounding territory fought a terrific battle all day yesterday and last night until the levee gave way.

The rise of the St. Francis was the second this week, and a third rise is expected by Tuesday.

It was believed here the river would go a foot and a half higher at the third crest, inundating other thousands of acres of land in the territory.

mately 700 families were reported homeless and four villages in the path of the constantly spreading waters were deserted.

As in the case of the St. Francis river break, there were 300 men working on the levee when it went out. These men hastily threw aside their tools and some were reported to have narrowly escaped with their lives.

It was hoped the levee in the White river would relieve the pressure against other levees further south, but engineers said the flood waters would return to the White river a few miles south.

Four Towns in Path

Four towns are in the path of the raging White river waters. They are Tupelo, Auverne, Shoffner and Weldon.

A 50-foot section of the 17-mile levee gave way and the gap is constantly growing larger. More than a half million acres of land drained by the White river and its tributaries have been inundated.

Heavy rains of the past few weeks have made the White, Cache, Black, St. Francis and Little Red river reach flood proportions.

Refugees have been trooping into the towns of Clarendon and Newport, where the levees withstood the disastrous floods of 1927. The Newport levees were being jealously guarded by hundreds of anxious professional and business men and farmers.

Guardsmen Aid

Five companies of Missouri national guardsmen are working desperately with 3,000 farmers and business and professional men south of Kennett in a frantic effort to prevent a break near Campbell or south of Kennett. It is believed the number of workers will be doubled by nightfall.

The Missouri river break is being watched more carefully than in the Arkansas river valley, as there the rivers are not expected to reach another high crest. This was the second rise of the St. Francis river, and a third is expected to reach this section about Tuesday.

Mayor E. Tankey of Kennett stated 150 families were in immediate need of attention in his city, and Red Cross headquarters have been established there. A refuge camp soon will be in operation.

1500 Are Homeless.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 16.—With 1,500 people homeless near Newport, Ark., as a result of a break in the White river levee last night, 3,000 laborers today were working to prevent a dozen more threatening breaks in the upper St. Francis, White and Black river levees.

Damage of more than one million dollars to crops has resulted from waters flowing through old crevasses along these rivers.

A crew of three hundred workers were busy at the point 15 miles below Newport last night when the break came. Warning had been sent out over the 25,000 acres which were today under water, and farmers and their families escaped the waters by moving to higher grounds.

Red Cross quarters, operated under Secretary of Commerce Hoover during the general floods in the spring of 1927, were swung open again today.

An artificial crevasse was cut about a mile above the break last night to relieve some of the river's fury but it did not help and the surging waters came through the rapidly-widening crevases with great fury, sweeping down houses in the valley and destroying crops.

Rain has let up in the territory drained by these tributaries of the Mississippi and a fall in the swollen rivers is expected by the middle of next week.

itself will eventually offset the effect of Lowden's stinging rebuke to his party. They concede that Lowden is extremely popular from Indiana westward to the Rockies, and that his views carry weight with the farmers of that region. But they do not believe that Lowden, even in his bitterest moments, would essay to lead any open revolt against the Republican party this autumn. They say he may remain silent, that he may give no aid to the Hoover-Curtis ticket, but they do not believe it will go any further than that.

No Third Party

The vision of Frank O. Lowden, admittedly the only man now that "Fighting Bob" LaFollette is dead, becoming the symbol of a third party movement in the West is to them an impossible one. Lowden is a Republican of some 40 years' regularity. So are most of the men who fought with him in Kansas City—Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Vice President Dawes and Senator Curtis himself, who now has consented to stand on the platform this convention adopted. So were most of their friends. Hence they believe the threat of a third party agrarian movement this fall is an idle one.

The representatives of the anti-Hoover coalition have been doing a great deal of post-mortemimg since Thursday night, seeking to place "the blame" for their defeat and Hoover's nomination.

There are a number of versions and opinions. Most of the coalition leaders, in private conversations, blame Lowden. One of the coalition leaders, who requested his name not be used, said to the writer:

Blame Lowden

"We could have beaten Hoover had it not been for Frank Lowden. He announced himself a candidate, proceeded to go out and sit down in the middle of the road, and so blocked it that no one could get around him. There he sat. He wouldn't conduct a vigorous fighting campaign himself, and he effectually barred others from doing so by the very fact that he was in the way."

That is just one version. There are others. And there probably will be more as the true history of this convention continues to be written and told.

But the important thing is that the Republican leaders were departing from Kansas City today more happy and more confident than they thought they ever could be a few days ago. The first week in November will tell whether they are right or wrong.

Progressing On P.-O. Rail Building

Second Floor Has Been Remodeled And Is Now Occupied

Workmen are working on the lower floor front of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric company building, Public square, which will be a display room when the building is entirely remodelled.

Progress on the second floor has resulted in it being occupied by the P-O dispatchers, Superintendent C. C. Coulthard, modern kitchen equipment display and bookkeeping department.

Until the second floor was ready for occupancy the dispatchers and P-O rail superintendent had occupied quarters on the lower floor rear. These latter quarters are now used for locker room purposes.

the selections made by the Republican delegates at the national convention in Kansas City. Hoover and Curtis are a well balanced team of headliners for the campaign, it is believed.

Congratulations are certainly due to young Charles Dungan, who has completed his entire school course from the start of the first grade to the conclusion of his high school course without a single absence or tardy mark in his attendance record. Punctuality of this sort is a thing to be commended, and means much to any individual.

In the Abe Martin comment of today on the editorial page, comment is connected up with New Castle. The story referred to is rather hazy in the minds of New Castleites, however.

Fourth of July is coming on apace. Back in the olden days the Fourth of July meant picnics and spread eagle oratory, etc. But now-a-days the garage men get their wrecking outfits ready, ambulance owners prepare for a strenuous day, and filling station proprietors prepare for a land-office business.

Garden cultivators are working overtime these days. Many a gardener is having a hard battle to keep ahead of the weeds that have sprung up following the week's rain and a few days of warm sunshine.

To one who is not very familiar with the hinterland of Lawrence county, a trip to the Boy Scout camp on the Slippery Rock creek will be somewhat of a revelation. The creek itself is beautiful, and the surrounding hills, surmounted with forests, adds to the scene. Pa Newc believes that there are many in the city who do appreciate it, because of the cottages along the creek.

And, it is not generally known in the city that, after becoming one of the most famous boy scout camps in the United States, Camp Phillips is in grave danger of having to close down because of insufficient funds. This was pointed out last evening to Pa Newc by Louis Round, who has been intensely interested in the camp since its inception three years ago. The council needs money, and needs it badly, if the camp is to continue in the way that has made it famous. Mr. Round, representing the council, asks that every public spirited citizen help so that it can be said that New Castle and Lawrence county always support the projects that they undertake.

To the bon vivant who is rather tired of the fussed up restaurant and hotel fare, the cookings staff of Camp Phillips are prepared to furnish another surprise. It is the policy of the camp, says Lee Calahan, the executive, to 'fill 'em up to the eyes". And they are filled up to the eyes. If one can imagine a camp breakfast starting with a cereal, going through eggs, bacon and potatoes, and then finishing with a cup of steaming coffee, eaten at six o'clock in the morning, then one can guess at the fare at Camp Phillips. The cooks are the best, and the staff makes one "eat 'till it hurts."

But Pa Newc has only one complaint to lodge. Dragons (the executives) when at play, are apt to forget all sense of time. Because of this, one did not get to sleep until midnight, and then, the same executives, who all have iron constitutions, routed one out at five o'clock the next morning, to see the sunrise and the boys at the camp cooking their breakfasts. But, it was worth it.

HOOVER TO CONFER WITH LEADERS ON CAMPAIGN DETAILS

Washington for two weeks or a month according to his secretaries. It must be determined before he leaves what character of campaign will be conducted—an old fahioned stump speaking drive—a front porch affair—a radio campaign.

It probably will be somewhat of a combination with a wide use of the radio whenever Hoover appears Hoover was the American "radio czar" before the federal commission was established by congress, although he has not been a frequent speaker before the microphone.

There was some speculation here as to whether Hoover would stop at the summer White House in Wisconsin on his way to the west coast. It was thought possible that Hoover might seek counsel from the president.

the hay" later than 9 oclock since the night of the big livery stable fire, paraded the streets until dawn. Blazing torches lighted the way and a half dozen bands furnished lively music.

Hoover has been away from this little Quaker village for more than 40 years, but there are many of the old timers who still recall him and feel themselves privileged to call him "Herb".

Mrs. Mollie Carran, Hoover's former school teacher, entertained the crowds with delightful anecdotes of Herbie's youth. She displayed an autographed photo he sent her in 1923 and a letter in which he thanked her training as a teacher, saying she had placed him on the right road at the start.

MAN REPORTED ACTING IN SUSPICIOUS MANNER

Jack Conn, 1207 Albert street, reported to the police last night that a man acting in a very suspicious manner has been prowling about his home at night during the past week. One night Paul Carter a young man residing upstairs in the apartment building where Conn resides met the man and asked him what he wanted. He insisted that Mr. Conn had sent him there. It is also reported that a suspicious acting man has been seen at other places in the same district in the past week. The police are investigating.

Naval Flier To Try For Record

Lieutenant Arthur Navin To Take Seaplane Up For New Altitude Mark

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—An attempt to bring additional aeronautical honors to the Philadelphia navy yards will be made today by Lieut. Arthur Navin, flight officer at the Aircraft factory of the navy yard when he will try to climb the PN-12 No. 2 to 20,000 feet in an effort to break the world's altitude record for seaplanes carrying a load of 4,200 pounds.

Gavin piloted the same ship to 12,000 feet yesterday to shatter the American altitude record for seaplanes carrying that weight. His venture now brings a total of four records to the fliers at the navy yards—three world's records established by the PN-12, sister ship of Lieut. Gavin's machine. The existing world record is now held by a Frenchman who climbed to 15,000 feet. Gavin is one of the navy's best pilots and was a member of Commander John Roger's flight to Honolulu and was commanding officer of the PN-12 when she broke the endurance record for seaplanes on May 5 last.

McMurray Tells Of Bird Sanctuary And "Singing Tower"

Former New Castle Boy Employed on Grounds Of Edward W. Bok In Florida

H. R. McMurray, a former Lawrence county boy who now resides at Lake Wales, Fla., is visiting his brother, W. H. McMurray, of near Harlansburg. Mr. McMurray is employed on the bird sanctuary of Edward W. Bok, former editor of the Ladies Home Journal.

Mr. Bok, he says is erecting a wonderful "Singing Tower" which will cost near $1,500,000. The tower is 205½ feet high, and is built of Pink Georgia marble and cocaine rock, the latter quarried in the vicinity of St. Augostine, Fla.

The singing tower is beautiful in architecture and workmanship. Inside these will be 61 bells ranging in weight from 17 pounds to 11 tons. These bells will be operated by a keyboard, much similar to that used on a pipe organ. The acoustics of the tower are expected to be as near perfection as possible. The tower, which is now under construction, will probably be dedicated next February. Anton Bees, a famous musician of Antwerp, will be there for the dedication.

Mr. McMurray says that the bird sanctuary in which the tower is located comprises over 26 acres. It is one of the most beautiful spots in Florida, filled with tropical plants and birds of all kinds. Mr. McMurray has been employed on the grounds for over two years. He is one of a number of caretakers necessary to keep the grounds in shape.

Real Relief Came When He Started With New Konjola

"It Is Wonderful", He Says; Completely Restored His Health In Every Way.

MR. LEWIS JOHN

Disorders of the important functionary organs of the body are common among thousands of people—some of them being chronic and others slight. For the purpose of ending such ailments, this new medicine has been prepared.

It is no longer an experiment but a treatment of recognized worth. The untold number of signed statements from former sufferers proves this. Cases are cited every day by local people telling how Konjola restored normal activity to the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels or relieved stubborn instances of neuritis and rheumatism. One of the latest reports came from Mr. Lewis John, 512 Elizabeth street, New Castle, who gave the following statement to the Konjola Man who is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street.

"I strongly indorse Konjola", said Mr. John, "Become it is a wonderful medicine and has brought new health over my entire system and gave me amazing relief from kidney trouble and a general rundown condition.

"I was suffering every day with kidney trouble. My whole system was awfully rundown and all during the day my back ached so much that it was almost impossible for me to bend over. Due to the disordered condition of my kidneys I always felt tired and worn-out. I was subject to dizzy spells and very often after I had eaten anything at all, I would have to go and rest for sometime on account of them. My appetite was poor and it seemed that no matter what I ate, the food did me no good at all. I had an attack of influenza and this left me in a worse condition than before. I never enjoyed a full nights sleep and the next morning I would get up I felt worse then when going to bed. Finally I developed a stubborn case of neuritis in my shoulders that was almost unbearable.

"I noticed in the papers that Konjola was recommended by many local people for such disorders as mine and I finally made up my mind to give this medicine a trial. The first two bottles gave me more relief than all the medicine I have ever taken. My kidneys function properly again and my bowels were regulated by this wonderful compound. As I continued with the treatment my stomach got better until finally I was able to eat anything I wanted without the least bad result afterward. Now a hard eight hours work does not bother me at all. My neuritis has been entirely relieved and your medicine has been a Godsend to me.

"If everyone that suffers as I once did would only try this medicine there would be a lot less sick people in the world and for this reason I am strongly indorsing Konjola."

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

WHILE there was little of the sensational in the Republican party convention, that has just concluded its sessions at Kansas City, the convention was really one that accomplished a great deal towards party progress, unity and certainty of victory at the coming November election.

The platform adopted is one that is calculated to appeal to the great majority of the rank and file of American citizens, no matter in what part of the nation they may reside. It is a document that embodies the planks that assure a continuation of American prosperity. The step taken whereby the Republican party formally pledges itself to enforcement of the Prohibition amendment is one which will have far reaching effect, and is a significant development of the party gathering.

In the selection of the men to head the ticket for the November election excellent judgment was shown by the leaders of the convention and the delegates. It is remarkable that in both cases, that of nomination of the presidential candidate and the vice presidential candidate, only one ballot was taken. This is believed to be the first convention in which such a situation has existed. It is significant of the unity of opinion existing among the delegates of the entire United States, and augurs well for party unity and support at the polls in November.

There is every indication of a decisive victory for Hoover and Curtis in the fall election.

THE FRANKING ABUSE

IT IS a rare session of congress that produces no new evidence of abuse of the franking privilege. Post-season disclosures show the recent session not to have been among the minority.

When congress endowed itself with the right to free use of the mails and virtually unlimited supplies of government publications, none foresaw a time when these privileges would be the means whereby senators and representatives at Washington could conduct campaigns for reelection at the expense of taxpayers.

The limitations surrounding the use of the congressional frank have never been sharply drawn, and if there are such limitations they have never been sharply observed. It has been shown that hundreds of thousands of speeches, or what passed for them, have been sent from Washington for campaign purposes at the expense of the public. The only statutory requirement is that the matter appear first in the Congressional Record, but that publication is open to anything and everything, no matter how extraneous.

Taxpayers should not be called upon to share the costs of furthering the personal or political ambitions of members of congress. No good reason exists why a flood of government publications should inundate those who have for them neither desire nor need.

Here is one of the causes of government waste which the Coolidge economy program could not reach. The fate of the franking privilege is in the hands of congress and that body is as likely to surrender it as to return to the states their purloined states' rights.

JURY-BAITING

ALONG with court procedure, judges, lawyers and public prosecutors, the jury has come in for a great deal of adverse criticism in this era of discontent and dissatisfaction. There has been too much jury-baiting.

Anybody who has observed closely the workings of the courts and the jury is reluctant to quarrel with the findings of a jury. For one thing, a jury consists of twelve persons—twelve average persons all presumably free from bias. It is decidedly unfair for a person, who has not attended the trial, to find fault with the verdict of twelve others who have.

The jury system would be a failure, indeed, if every verdict were determined by the swing of public opinion. Society requires the talesman to enter the jury box with an open mind and keep an open mind until all the evidence has been heard, but the jury is rebuked if its verdict is contrary to the conclusion arrived at by the public before the trial.

Than the jury system, there is no more impregnable bulwark of American liberties. Regardless of the mistakes of particular juries, the eternal jury is a guarantee against oppression by unjust laws, unreasonable penalties, stupid judges and unscrupulous prosecutors. When these things appear the horse sense of the jury makes short shrift of them.

As one side must lose in every trial, jury-baiting usually can be traced to a poor loser. The winner finds fault neither with the jury system nor the jury.

A successful man always runs things; he never walks them.

The great task is not to define Americanism, but to refine it.

About the time a popular song gets popular it loses its popularity.

A scientist has measured the heat of the stars, but the world is more interested in their salaries.

When one of these old boys gets the flapper craze, it seems peculiarly fitting to call him a sexagenarian.

This age, for some reason, seems to be more interested in the cave man than in the man of the future.

A man seldom hears the knock of opportunity if he pays too much attention to the knocks of the neighbors.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:32. Sun rises tomorrow 4:28.

Man isn't thinking of subduing his stock market or conquering the world while he is sitting at a manicurist's table with one hand in a finger bowl filled with water.

Harry Thaw might have fooled the Britishers and flew into England in an airplane, ordered his suits and got out again before they knew it. Harry will have to wear American-made clothes now, which may be tough, although he has worn some queer looking duds while in this country.

It used to be a man could hear more big talk in a barroom than he can now hear in the United States Senate.

IT TAKES AT LEAST ONE FOOL TO MAKE A WRECK

There are automobile wrecks caused by defective machinery and defective roads, but nine times in 10 the fact of a wreck proves the existence of a fool.

And when two cars wreck it is a safe bet 99 times in a hundred that one of the drivers, or both, violated some traffic rule or some rule of common sense.

Almost every driver thinks he is a good one, and yet not one driver in 10 has wit enough or is prudent enough to deserve the use of public highways. If the other nine escape having wrecks it is because of the mercy of God.

You may drive at the rate of 60 miles an hour and yet be a safe driver.

But you aren't a safe driver if you pass slower cars at a curve. You aren't a good driver if you pass other cars at the crest of a hill where you cannot see the highway ahead. And you aren't a safe driver if you take chances.

In short, the only driver who should be trusted on the highway is the one who keeps his car under absolute control at all times, whether making 10 miles an hour or 60; who never, at any speed, gets so close to the car in front of him that he could not avoid a collision if it should stop without warning; who never approaches a crossing without being certain that the way is clear; who never, in short, gets into a position or condition where he could not avoid a wreck if he should meet an idiot.

It is not enough merely to drive safely. It is not enough to be safe on condition that other drivers obey the rules. The good driver must assume that he may at any time meet a poor driver, a fool or a drunk man, and must be in position to save himself, regardless of the other driver's folly.

We suggested in this column last week that when the McCracken Circle of Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic sold flags on the streets last Saturday to get money because their fund was low in the sick and flower fund, that five dollar bills would be the right thing to give by those who could afford it. The old ladies did not get $50 and there was only one five dollar bill in the collection. Now, don't too many claim they put in the five berries.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world. Last Sunday in a city in the United States a girl walked down the church aisle adorned in a bright slicker. Painted conspicuously across the back were the words: "Thanks for the buggy ride".

There are people who think that a man isn't drunk until he bites a policeman. This is apparent in most any court trial in court where a case on trial where someone is charged with driving a car while pifflicated.

Most kids have learned that when father says "yes" and mother says "no", they can't.

The manager of The News, Jacob F. Rentz, his wife and sons, Richard and Freddie, left last night for California, where they will visit for several weeks. This is the first vacation in several years for Jake and he deserves it because he stays at home while we gad around over the country. We are going to miss them, even if we are busy running this newspaper, which really was the only job we had for about 30 years. It will feel good to get back to every little detail, and we hope we will not have to cuss like we used to in order to get the attention we thought we should have. While we are glad to have them go, oh, boy, we sure will be glad to see them back.

The first hot day brings the complaint of the weather being too hot and also the many people who inquire solicitously of one if the weather is hot enough for them.

In these days of automobiles and fast drivers the Hints and Dints Man can remember back with pleasure when he used to be hit by a bicycle.

No matter how much a wife has to spend, it isn't enough if her husband gives his people part of his earnings.

Figures show that automobile deaths have increased 283 per cent in the last 10 years. This isn't surprising. The rate of increase would undoubtedly be much greater if the figures were carried back 50 years.

No President of the United States has ever been elected from any state farther west than Illinois. What will happen this time?

When a new acquaintance says to you: "Oh, I've heard of you very often", one cannot help but wonder what he has found out.

A post card inquirer wants to know what a golf luncheon is and what they do at one. We do not know, unless it's eat, which is usually one of the things they do at any kind of a luncheon.

It is safer for most married men to be out after three o'clock in the morning than it is to go home at that hour.

We have never heard of any student in any college getting a diploma for football or any other kind of sport. And sports seem to be a very important part of school life.

WHY THE CONCERT FAILED

The soprano in a concert at Windy Gulch had a severe cold and was having trouble with her high notes.

"I'll hang my harp on a willow tree-e-e," she shrilled, but her voice broke on the high note. "On a willow tree-e-e-oh, ahem," she persisted, but again she broke at the very climax.

"Say, miss," suggested Alkali Ike, sitting in the front row, "try a lower limb."

A philosopher is a man who can be cheerful about your toothache.

Mr. Hoover is said to be "No Politician." He has done very good in spite of that handicap and he, like some others we know, had politicians who could get things for him he couldn't get himself, although we do not think Mr. Hoover spent very many ten dollar bills.

We still say without fear of contradiction and in all sincerity, that a membership in the New Castle Motor club is worth half a dozen memberships in someother things we belong to. Every automobile owner is doing himself an injustice by not joining. We like to see other people enjoy a good thing, and that is why we are saying this right out loud where thousands can hear it.

Maybe it's because some people have had their faces lifted because they carry their noses up in the air.

An opinion can't very well be unbiased unless it agrees with yours—now can it?

An automobile on fire can cause just as much excitement as if the court house was on fire and it's funny to listen to the wise crackers who gather around apparently for no other reason than giving advice or something.

When some people get the idea that the world is sour it's only their stomachs yelling for some bicarbonate.

"This boy Lindy is a sort of winged victory, isn't he?" asks an exchange. No, he is not; Lindy has his head with him all the time.

On June 29th, some well known men in this city are going to put on a show at the Scottish Rite Cathedral called "Koles Komedy Koons." The Boy Scout organization of Lawrence county is sorely in need of some money and this show is to be given to get help for the Boy Scouts. We expect to help this effort a lot in kind words, in buying tickets and even putting on a bull fight or something. Are you going to join in this laudable venture?

When a local chap was asked to call up a customer he asked "What's the name of his phone?" Not bad.

The great open spaces seem to have an attraction for everybody except ideas.

The City Rescue Mission is going to give it's annual picnic to the poor kiddies of New Castle soon. Mr. Berquist has stated in this paper the amount of eatables it will take for the kiddies. Surely no one can find any fault with this picnic after seeing one of them and knowing about them. Surely we can't and we are not going to. Mr. Berquist will be pleased to tell you how you can help the kiddies, as that is what you will help when you contribute.

A parking space is where you leave the car to have 326 ads. stuck on the glass.

You can't avoid centralized government when you establish a centralized pap supply.

We hear a lot of people talking about their vacations already. Why some birds want a vacation is beyond us unless it is to get away from their regular loafing places. We have known of cases where enthusiastic vacationers have lost their jobs while away as the boss found out how easy it was to get along without them and he just saved a hand by putting no one in their place. We advise caution this summer as jobs seem to be scarce.

He'll tell you just what should be done,
But he won't go and do it.

We have noticed that the naughty wind does not cause as much embarrassment to the short skirt wearer as the same wind did to the long skirt wearer in years gone by. The wind don't seem to be able to get a good hold on the present skirt, possibly on account of its lack of material. Anyhow, the wind does not seem to effect the short skirt of today very much.

A Brave Woman.
Merry, Merry Farmers.
"Hoover There."
The President Rests.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who died Thursday will be remembered with gratitude and honor.

Possessing courage, determination and self-sacrifice of which few men would be capable, Mrs. Pankhurst led and won the battle for woman suffrage.

In her magnificent campaign she faced the contempt of dull men and stupid women. Some day the women of the world will erect to her memory the monument that she deserves.

The farmers' demonstration in Kansas City lent an artistic touch to the convention. It was suggested that Mr. Florenz Ziegfeld, of the Follies, had been engaged to prepare the costumes, just as he would do for a rural scene in his New York theater.

The farmers brought hay forks and hoes on their shoulders, and while they didn't sing "We Are Merry, Merry Farmers," or stamp their hoe handles on the ground in unison, they presented a pretty picture.

What disappointed "friend of the farmer" financed that exhibition?

Americans in Paris sing George M. Cohan's war song, changed to "Hoover There."

Hoover was over there when he was NEEDED there. He was at work in the Mississippi Valley when he was needed there, backed by President Coolidge's confidence, in the time of flood.

If he is elected president of the United States the people will find him just where he is NEEDED.

President Coolidge, leaving politics to the politicians, is off to Wisconsin's fishing grounds. A while ago, at the White House, showing to this writer improvements that had been made for his successor, President Coolidge said: "It is no kindness to wish me four years more of this work," and he meant it.

The country is grateful for work he has done. And, while there was never any question of a third term, since Mr. Coolidge has been elected president only once, the people admire his unwillingness to raise the slightest third term question.

Jack Dempsey discovers that real estate provides the softest road to wealth. He sold a hotel in Los Angeles for $650,000, making a profit of $100,000 with great ease, and didn't have to hit anybody "on the point of the jaw" or let anybody hit him to make the money.

Real estate works swiftly, surely. You buy property, crowds move in your direction, mothers produce more babies, which puts up rents, and without a struggle you are worth thousands or millions more. Ask the Astors, Goelets, Gerrys. Or ask single taxers and see them rave.

While Republicans at Kansas City put "rigid prohibition enforcement" into their platform, they are putting all sorts of rigid liquids into their interiors. J. E. House, writing in confidence to Cyrus H. K. Curtis, reports that "Old Man River himself is no wetter than Kansas City," the principal ingredients of that great boom town at present being Scotch, rye, Bourbon, gin and fancy drinks, if you are effeminate enough to want them.

Since Nelly Bly finished her trip around the world, and Dorothy Dix turned from straight reporting to deep philosophy no lady writer has appeared as brilliant as Katherine Dayton. Her description of great men gathered in Kansas City from the wide-open and tight-shut places isn't complimentary: "They were not so much the kind of men that a girl forgets, as the kind she just wouldn't notice."

More rioting in Greece, six killed, 40 wounded. Byron would be surprised to hear what happened after Greece escaped the rule of the Turks.

In Tien Tsin riots many were killed and robbed night before last, "great carnage" is reported, gunmen were busy, the streets littered with dead, many corpses floated on the River Pei-Ho.

Wall Street seemed to be recovering from its fit of nerves Thursday and bargain hunters found it difficult in many cases to pick up their bargains. The change comes too late to save some little lambs. But they will know better next time—PERHAPS.

What I think this country needs is fliwers harder t' stop at fillin' stations an' easier t' stop at rail crossin's.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

The League to Abolish Capital Punishment, a national organization, with offices in New York, sends out a pamphlet giving succinctly the reasons for its existence.

These reasons cannot be too often stated, as the objection to capital punishment is not a mere sentimental one, but is based upon facts, results and science.

The object of any punishment at all is two-fold.

First, to see that the offender shall not be guilty of a similar offense and, secondly, to deter others from imitating him. It stands to reason that when a man has been hanged it does him no good, while, in the second place, attention is called to the fact that as a matter of statistics capital punishment is not a deterrent. In states and countries which have already abolished the death penalty murder has not increased. In most of them it has decreased. This is not sentiment. It is cold fact.

Secondly, capital punishment is irrevocable. There have been cases of the execution of innocent men. No punishment should be such that it cannot be reversed in case the victim is found to be innocent.

Third, more and more juries refuse to convict in first degree murder cases, because they object to the penalty. Thus instead of protecting society it endangers it. It allows the guilty to go free simply because it is hard to find twelve persons who want to kill a man. In states which have abolished capital punishment there is a higher percentage of convictions.

Fourth, the death penalty advertises murder. It is good newspaper copy and the psychological effect of its publicity is demoralizing.

Fifth, a second death cannot undo the first, and killing a man for a crime inflicts shame and suffering on his innocent relatives, at the same time merely sating the desire for vengeance on the part of the victim's friends.

Sixth, it demoralizes prison officials and prison inmates. The majority of the prison wardens of the United States and almost all modern penologists are against the death penalty.

Seventh, somehow our fundamental belief is in the sanctity of human life and we will never get over a feeling of repulsion when the states imitates the murderer.

Eighth, many states already have abolished capital punishment, to wit:

Maine, Rhode Island, Michigan, Kansas, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota and Minnesota.

Many countries have abolished it. Portugal, Holland, Italy, Norway, Austria, Sweden, Latvia, Esthonia, Switzerland (15 cantons), Finland, Denmark, Belgium, Brazil, Venezuela, Argentina, Ecuador, Peru, Uruguay, Columbia, Honduras and Mexico (3 states).

Does the United States want to be the last?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE HUMAN INSTINCT.

"Difference of opinion makes a horse race." It also makes a bet. No English or Kentucky Derby would ever be run if the Human did not gamble. Only now are the promoters of the Great Calcutta Pool upon the Derby trying to get in touch with an A. H. Webb, British Subject, who won the modest sum of $1,250,000 by possessing the right ticket. Mr. Webb is somewhere on the high seas, enroute for Singapore where he hopes to sell some good English rope, or better, buy some good East Indian material out of which his company may make their rope and cordage. Mr. Webb also is interested in horse races and lays a wager now and then as does most every human. He will not know of his good fortune until he lands at Singapore.

Selwyn, in the reign of George III, used to say there was nothing in the heavens above, or the earth below, or the waters under the earth, upon which men could not contrive to bet. The truth of his observation should be corroborated readily by members of a generation in America who recall that enormous sums of money formerly changed hands, round a table between companions each with a lump of sugar before him, engaged in the game of Fly Loo, the outcome of which depended absurdly enough upon the attraction that the sugar of respective players had upon the appetites of the ever eager house fly.

The custom was prevalent among the Israelites in the form of determining events by lot, not consciously perhaps as a matter of chance but as an appeal to Heaven, for by lot Jonah was found to be responsible for the storm that ended so melodramatically for him, and so indigestably for the whale; by lot Saul was marked out of the kingdom of the Hebrews; and by lot the land of Canaan was divided in one of the best known real estate transactions in history. The latter may be thought to have planted the seeds of gambling in one division of the human race.

But the Israelites were neither first nor alone. The gods of their early Grecian neighbors not only gamed in their own elite sets on Olympus but introduced the fashion among mortals.

"The Hindoo Code, a promulgation of very high antiquity, denounces gambling, which proves that there were desperate gamesters among the Hindoos in the earliest times," writes a British authority of 60 years ago with what one may recognize as a precociously American understanding of the relations of law and the lawmakers to the body politic. Other Eastern peoples have had their dice and their game cocks since earliest times.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE WORST OF PESTS.

I do not mind the driver who would faster go than I,
I will quickly, when the signals, turn aside to let him by,
For the driver of the taxi I am glad to turn aside,
He is busy earning money, not just out to take a ride,
But the driver I can't stand for, be his car of steel or tin,
Is that chap who blocks the traffic by his selfish edging in.

There's the boy who races signals—
let him rush along his way—
For the officer will get him in in the end and he will pay.
I can chuckle at the driver, though he rouses others' scorn,
Who displays his restless spirit by the honking of the horn.
But the one who most disturbes me in the city's rush and din
Is the chap who crowds his fellows and insits on edging in.

The stop sign never stops him—he keeps crawling on his way
And he shows no thought for others or the law he should obey.
Though a dozen cars are coming, he won't leave their pathway clear,
They must stop to let him over or profanity they'll hear.
And I always get a chuckle and I always get a grin
When somebody strips a fender from the chap who edges in.

GREAT POSSESSIONS.

Dr. Jacob Glahn, Owensburg, Ky., writes one of those helpful letters that a writer likes to get. He was ill in bed when he wrote, so I appreciate it the more. His letter was prompted by some remarks in this column on the subject of "Mysteries." Dr. Glahn who appears to be a veteran scholar is kind enough to intimate that there was something profound about the discussion in question I didn't intend that it should be profound. Merely thought-provoking.

Dr. Glahn is somewhat resentful of the fact that scholars rarely make any money out of their learning. He is not greedy for money himself but it seems to him a little unjust that persons of trifling minds should make fortunes that render their lives easy while thinkers and persons who search for truth should remain generally impecunious.

Well, it's a question of relative values Doctor. As you very well know and understand money is only one of many good hings that may be gathered in by inhabitants of this little world of ours between birth and death.

Great riches are despised by but few to tell the whole truth. I certainly am not numbered among the despisers. Then, below the standard of great wealth there is much to be said for the possession of enough money to make easy and comfortable living possible. Below that again there remains the possibility of having enough money to eliminate much of the ugliness of life. For instance, dirt is ugly. It is possible to be very poor and very clean, but it is much easier to be clean and to live amid clean surroundings if one has a competence.

But one would be silly to suppose that the possessions of wealth in any degree is the most important thing in life or even one of the hundred most important things.

Of course good health is far more important than great possessions. If you can have both, fine. But health is immeasurably the more important.

Possession of a well-ordered and calm mind is far more important than the possession of money in any quantity. Interesting friends are to be desired above much fine gold. The scholar who is well grounded in philosophy generally sees the world in a perspective that makes the possession of a million dollars a circumstance of very little importance. There are so many things that are more to be desired.

Fannie Ward Loses Valuable Necklace

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 16.—Fannie Ward, the eternally youthful stage star, lost a $50,000 diamond necklace while enroute from New York aboard the liner Berengeria, she revealed upon her arrival here from Southampton.

The necklace, she said, disappeared from her jewel case under mysterious circumstances. Cunard officials are investigating.

GOVERNMENT NETS OVER BILLION ON AUTOMOBILE TAX

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—More than $1,099,000,000 was collected by the federal government from the automobile excise tax, inaugurated October 4, 1917, and repealed May 29, 1928, the American Motorists' association announced today.

Repeal of the tax, assessed only on new cars purchased, means a saving of approximately $10,000,000 annually.

Police Officers Kept Busy Rescuing Station Cat

Tabby, the police station ratter, has just escaped losing three of her nine lives in the past three days, owing to the propensity of Charles Marker of English avenue, to strangle all cats he comes in contact with.

Placed in the city jail twice in the past week, Marker, on each occasion has attempted to end the life of the faithful ratter by persuading her to come into his cell.

In each instance, the timely arrival of some of her policemen friends is all that saved her life.

Friday afternoon, Marker was ordered to the county jail for ten days with the suggestion to the county authorities that a commission should be appointed to inquire into his mental condition.

As he was taken from the cell and about to be placed in the police car to be transferred to the county jail, Officer Longstreth noticed that Marker was carrying a basket.

Investigation revealed the fact that Marker had once more persuaded Tabby to go with him. The cat was in the basket.

Officer Longstreth rescued the cat for the third time this week, Marker being sent to the county jail minus the cat.

The police officers have such a high opinion of the cat, that they maintained a strict watch to prevent Marker doing away with her.

In Religious and Fraternal Circles

Missionary Society

Woman's Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. J. F. Ringer in her home on Oak street on Thursday.

Nine members and three visitors were present. At noon a sumptuous tureen dinner was served. The hostess was ably assisted by her daughter, Nellie, and Miss Sara Myers.

Following the social period the regular business was transacted. Devotionals were led by Mrs. Ringer, while Mrs. R. A. Long led in the lesson discussion. The meeting was the final one of the year. The next meeting will be held the second Thursday in September.

Officers Named.

Mrs. K. E. Smith was elected president of the Loyal Ladies Bible class of Central Christian Sunday school at the meeting Thursday evening in the church parlors.

Other officers named were: First vice president, Mrs. Anna Cowmeadow; second vice president, Mrs. Frank Yingling; secretary, Mrs. R. J. Price; assistant secretary, Mrs. John Shaffer; treasurer, Mrs. Ruth Thompson; Assistant treasurer, Mrs. Frank Yingling; flower treasurer, Mrs. Alice Cole; reporter, Mrs. John Shaffer.

Next President Will Be German?

(International News Service)

BERLIN, June 16.—The next president of the United States will be a German, according to the claims of various members of the German press.

Whether the Republicans succeed in electing Herbert Hoover or the Democrats sweep in Governor Al Smith, the result will be the same, these papers claim. The president will be a German.

Smith, they say, is the son of a German immigrant. His mother, the condescend to admit, was Irish.

Hoover's ancestors, they aver, were named Huber. The Hubers emigrated from Baden in 1740.

Lunch was served by the social committee at the conclusion of the program.

Frances Willard W. C. T. U.

Frances Willard W. C. T. U. met at the Almira Home Friday afternoon for flower mission day. The program was in charge of the flower mission director, Mrs. C. C. Campbell. After the usual devotional period, which was in charge of the evangelical director, Mrs. W. C. Stuart, Junior McCandless and Bobby Edmunds each gave a reading.

Piano solos were given by Margaret Outhwaite and Evelyn Moon. Wilma Woods sang two numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Olive Scott. There were 60 bouquets given to the ladies of the home and ice cream and cake were served by the ladies of the union.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. R. Bollard on King avenue on July 20.

Sentence Sermons

By Rev. Roy D. Smith, D. D.

WE SELDOM BOAST—

Of stinginess — we usually call it thrift.
Of stubbornness—we usually think it is standing by a conviction.
Of cruel speech—we try to make ourselves believe it was frankness.
Of timidity—we like to think it was conservatism.
Of sin—we prefer to call it heredity or inhibited complexes.
Of stupidity—we assure ourselves it was bad luck.
Of laziness—we are merely waiting for something to turn up.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

A certain American statesman of recent years had a friend who was such a good friend that he told the statesman about his faults.

"The trouble with you," said the friend, "is that while nobody questions your ability and your brilliant attainments, you are so egotistic you are making yourself unpopular. Think this over. I am telling you as your friend."

In a few days the statesman came back. He said to his friend: "You are right. I am egotistic. I see it. I thank you. But I call your attention to the fact that most other great men have been egotistic. Look at Julius Caesar, Napoleon and all the rest."

There is a difference between having self-assurance and being hopelessly egotistic.

NO 100 PERCENTERS

Unless it be the Indian there are no one hundred per cent Americans. Let Americans boast as much as they please, they come from all the races of the earth. Intelligence and thoughtful living and good citizenship come out of all races. Don't fret about your ancestors or brag about them either. Think about your own record—here and now.

IGNORANT?

People may be unlettered but not ignorant. Many men and women who never learned to read or write have been good and great people. Education is not necessarily college education. The man who can most successfully adjust himself to the changing circumstances of life is the educated man.

LEARNING BY HANDICAP

Addressing a race betterment conference some time ago, Dr. Irving Fisher, professor of political economy at Yale, said: "My studies in health arose originally from my own lack of health 30 years ago."

Theodore Roosevelt was noted for his interest in athletic affairs, and yet he was a sickly youth in college.

It is a man's handicap which often calls his attention to the extra effort which will make him a real success. Handicap demands a margin of effort—the margin of effort over what the ordinary man gives a job. Often big results come by the route of serious handicap.

Lindbergh Will Receive Degree From Wisconsin

(International News Service)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 16.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from Roosevelt, L. I., today on his way to receive another honorary degree.

This time it will be at the University of Wisconsin, where Lindbergh once was a student. President Glenn Frank will make the presentation Monday, when Lindbergh is due to land at Madison, Wis., after a single stop over in Buffalo.

—which they invented—and a cup of tea, while the great grandfathers many generations back of those inveterate and polished players Lord Holland, political rival of Chatham, Charles J. Fox, the immaculate Beau Brummell, Horace Walpole, the elegant Beau Nash, dictatorial Master of the Ceremonies at Bath, Wilberforce, Oliver Goldsmith, the first Lord Londesborough, the Earls of Carlisle and of Derby, and the Dukes of Norfolk and of Queensberry were still wearing skins and throwing war clubs instead of dealing rubbers of Whist and entering their wagers in the betting books at White's and Brooke's Clubs on a scoundrel's chance of hanging or the continuance of a ministry.

The Egyptians, too, gambled and supposed that their gods did likewise. The Romans had lotteries—and loaded dice, also, as discovered through the finding of a "cogged" pair deep under the lava that buried Herculaneum. Theodoric, the Goth, was a devotee of dice and Tacitus tells us that the early Germans made "gaming with a dice, a very serious occupation of their sober hours."

But the unsophisticated Negro lacked in his savage state the enjoyment of these more refined recreations. He never dreamed of "Little Joes" or "Big Dicks", or a bare spot on the sunny side of a racing stable on which fervently to pray for "sevens" and "elevens" in endless succession, until Puritan preachers, burghers and school teachers made possible their subsequent heroic efforts to enfranchise him by first financing the slave ships to convey him from home and family in Guinea or the Congo to a New Orleans or Charleston auction block.

In his African jungles the wretched uncivilized black had only shells for dice and with them played a game cruder and less interesting even than those enjoyed by the American Indian or the surprisingly advanced Greenlander with his board and revolving pointer.

From the dawn of civilization, through the records of Assyria, Persia, Spain, Germany, France, Italy and England, alike may be found evidences of gambling; not sporadically but practically without interruption, and not as a rare exception but as a rule.

So great has been man's interest in the subject that he began in the seventeenth century to develop from it a learned science—the doctrine of chances or probabilities—upon the correctness of which depends the stability of our modern insurance companies and the scientific determination with regard to the probabilities of future events from previous observations upon events of the same nature, but given its earlier impetus not when insurance companies but when lotteries were in vogue.

And why not? Is not everything done by the Human, based upon his gambling instinct? The groceryman buys his potatoes, and his sugar expecting—gambling if you will—to sell at a profit.

For sure thing gambling, a great religionist once advised, "Become a Christian, live a Christian life and if there is a Heaven, you are a winner thereby. If there is no Hereafter, you have lost nothing."

THEMES FOR NEW CASTLE PULPITS ON SUNDAY

Young People To Meet Sunday

Mid-Year Conference To Be Held At Highland U. P. Church Sunday Afternoon

STRONG PROGRAM IS SCHEDULED

Everything is in readiness for the ninth midyear young people's Sunday school conference of the New Castle district, which will be held Sunday afternoon and evening at the Highland United Presbyterian church, corner of Park and Highland avenues. Indications are that tomorrow's gathering will be one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever conducted by the Sunday School Council of this city. Up to Friday afternoon 164 paid registrations had been received and it is expected that by tonight over 200 delegates will have been signed up.

It is announced that the work of registering the delegates who have not turned in their name up to conference time will commence at two o'clock and continue through until four p. m. The afternoon session will get under way at 2:15 p. m., when the opening praise service is conducted by Frank Brenneman of the Highland church.

The address of welcome will be delivered at 2:45 p. m. by O. A. Rodgers, chairman of the Sunday school cabinet of the conference church, and immediately following his words of greeting the boys and girls in attendance will go into separate sessions for nearly an hour.

Presiding over the sessions, which will open at three o'clock, will be the respective presidents, Claudia Boughter and Dewayne Glenn. The boys will hear John Leonard, boys' secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., in a heart-to-heart discussion, while Mrs. David D. Sleppy of the Mahoning Methodist church will speak to the girl delegates. Talks by members of the Sunday School Council will feature the remaining minutes of the group sessions.

The visitors will be asked to reassemble at 3:45 p. m. for a "get acquainted period", to be conducted by Miss Kathryn McGrath and George Hogue of the assembly church.

At four o'clock the customary roll call of Sunday schools will take place. Registration at the entrance to the church will be closed before the delegates roll is called. There will be no registration for the evening session, as this service will be open to all who desire to attend.

After three or four short speeches by representatives of various denominations in the city, Miss D. J. McConaghy will sound the keynote of the conference in her address on "The Jesus Life—So Abundant". This address will be given at around five o'clock.

At 5:20 o'clock a free luncheon will be served to the visiting host by the members of the Young People's Society of the conference church. All delegates are cordially invited to be present for this.

The model young people's society demonstration, always one of the important features of the conference, will be carried out from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m., with Miss Ruth Patton of the First Christian church in charge.

The evening session, opening at a quarter of eight, will be attended by not only the delegates from the various Sunday schools in the city and leaders in Sunday school work, but also by the members of the church's congregation and others who care to attend. T. J. Davies, superintendent of the Young People's Council, will preside over this service, at which the conference church pastor, Rev. C. J. Williamson will stress the church's challenge to youth. Talks by four delegates will also feature the program.

At the conclusion of the main address and the closing hymn Rev. Williamson will pronounce the benediction, bringing the conference to a close.

Committees for the gathering are as follows: speakers, T. J. Davies, Miss Geneva Fleming and Bruce Ewing; church arrangements, Frank Brenneman, Katheryn McGrath, Claudia Boughter, George Hogue and Lyle McGrath; music, A. W. Bauman Jr. and Mary Sharp.

Adjutant Barker At Tent Meeting Of Salvation Army

Officer From Greensburg, Pa., To Assist In Special Services Here

Adjutant E. J. Parkins of the local Salvation Army corps has been successful in securing the services of Adjutant F. J. Barker and the silver band of the Salvation Army, Greensburg. They will be here for the week-end and take charge of the special series of meetings being conducted in the tent at the corner of Euclid and Wilmington avenues. The services have continued each night during the past week, with special speakers every night.

Adjutant F. J. Barker and his musical combination promise a real treat in gospel music and song during the week-end. Adjutant Barker is a man of excellent musical ability and a strong preacher. He has traveled in most of the larger cities of western Pennsylvania, also in many of the important cities of eastern Canada.

On Saturday evening special open air services will be conducted at the Diamond and other parts of the city. The band will render special music. Sunday morning at 11 o'clock there will be a holiness meeting. Adjutant Barker will be the preacher. A sacred band concert will be given at 2:30 p. m. with special music by the band; also vocal selections. A salvation service will be conducted at 7:30 p. m., with Adjutant Barker again preaching. A real treat is in store for all. Do not forget that all the services on Sunday will be conducted in the tent at the corner of Euclid and Wilmington avenues.

Lawrence County Men At State College

Head Of The Pomona Grange And Others Attend Dedication Event

Lawrence county was well represented at the breaking of ground on Friday for the Grange Memorial Dormitory, which is to be constructed at Penn State College. It is one of the finest buildings of its kind in the United States.

Among those leaving Thursday so as to be present at the ceremony Friday were David F. Kyle, master of Pomona Grange, Ralph Fenton and H. J. Drake.

They attended the breaking of the ground ceremony on Friday afternoon at one o'clock. This magnificent building is to occupy a prominent site on the campus. It is to be the head house of a group of buildings surrounding a campus of seven acres and looking out over the highway that branches toward the mountains.

These members of the party are expected home some time today.

Curtis Is Named As Runningmate For Herbert Hoover

Kansas Senator Wins Overwhelming Victory In G. O. P. Convention

KANSAS CITY, June 16.—As the concluding feature of the National Republican party convention here on Friday afternoon, Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, was nominated as Hoover's running mate. On the first ballot he polled 1,052 to 34 votes, and the selection was made unanimous.

Senator Curtis has long been in the National halls of congress, and during the past year has been Republican party leader in the Senate.

The trend to Curtis during Friday was a regular landslide, once it became known that he had agreed to accept the party nomination.

Speedboat Upsets, Crew Is Rescued

Racing Speedboat Upsets In Big Wave, Coastguards Effect Rescue

(International News Service)

BOSTON, June 16.—One of the 35 outboard speedboats engaged in the 250-mile water marathon from Boston to Flushing, N. Y., upset in Massachusetts Bay and the two occupants were rescued by one of the fleet of coastguard patrol boats protecting the racers in their hazardous journey, according to a radiogram received at coastguard headquarters this afternoon.

The boat was Baby Billy driven by K. Harndon of New York, and with him was W. A. Henderson.

The speedster was going at a terrific pace when she plowed into a wave and capsized. Details of the rescue were not given in the brief radiogram. Some of the speedsters were reported as having developed engine trouble.

Prayer Book War Causes Bishops To Take Action

House Of Bishops May Attempt To Put Prayer Books Into Use Despite Rejection

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 16.—Following a long conference of the bishops of the Church of England it was reported today that the House of Bishops may attempt to put the revised common prayer book in use despite its rejection by the House of Commons. In view of the affiliation between the church and the state two attempts had been made within six months to have parliament legalize the new prayer book.

The archbishop of Canterbury refused to comment upon reports that he would resign, but his friends believe that he will announce his retirement within a few months, giving his advanced age as the reason.

It is possible that groups of the church factions may attempt to get together and write an entirely new prayer book which, they hope, will be acceptable to all groups.

Youngest Solon Is Sued For Divorce

KANSAS CITY, June 1.—George H. Combs, 29, youngest member of Congress, was made defendant in a suit for divorce filed today by his wife, Mrs. Mary Postell Combs.

Combs, a Democrat, was elected to the House of Representatives from the fifth Missouri district in 1926. Mrs. Combs before her marriage to Combs seven years ago was Miss Mary Chase Postell of Savannah. She alleged indignities and asked custody of a son, 5.

It's comfort to have a coming young man interested in daughter, but he shouldn't be too absent-minded about going.

Sees No Danger Of Repetition Of Big 1927 Flood

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 16.—No danger of a repetition of the disastrous floods which swept the Mississippi valley last year was foreseen here today by the United States Weather Bureau.

Professor Henry J. Cox, forecaster of the Chicago area, said he had received special weather reports today from stations along the Mississippi river, which reported a lowering of the stage at St. Louis and other places.

No rains have been reported except in the extreme southern portion of the river. The condition of the St. Francis river at Kenneth, Mo., is purely due to local rains, Cox said.

Southern Chinese Troops Massed At Tien-Tsin, Report

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 16.—More than 10,000 southern (nationalist) troops are now quartered in and around Tien-Tsin under command of southern Defense Commissioner Fu Tso Yi and are maintaining order, according to advices from that city this afternoon.

Recent violence and looting were attributed to stragglers from the northern army which evacuated the city. So far as known no foreigners were molested during the outbreak.

According to the Tien-Tsin police, communists are suspected of blowing up the arsenal when many Chinese were killed. Unofficial figures put the casualties at nearly 100.

Maj. Gen. Wardrop, commander of the British forces in China, has arrived at Tien-Tsin to inspect the defenses of the foreign settlement and to study the situation generally.

FOURTEEN COUNTY COUNCILS IN BOY SCOUT CAMPOREE

at Camp Phillips, the summer camp of the Lawrence county council, Boy Scouts of America.

Name Winners Monday

Because of the immense amount of work to be done in counting the scores made by the various patrols representing the different councils, and the double check which is necessary to eliminate all possible error, the winner of the camporee cannot be announced until Monday afternoon, states J. Lee Calahan, Scout executive of the county, who with Major Seymour and Clerk Kenyon Woody of McKeesport, are tabulating every event. However, it is conceded by most of the judges that troop 1 of New Bedford, the winners of the camporee of 1927, which took place at Greensburg, will have a very good chance of finishing well within the first division, if not taking first place in the contest.

To eliminate all favoritism, each patrol was assigned a number, and during the camporee the patrol was designated only by this number. The New Bedford Scouts had as their number 10, and were encamped well toward the lower part of the field, near the woods.

Large Crowd at Camp

Perhaps 400 visitors from New Castle and the surrounding community visited the camp Friday evening to watch the boys work under actual camping conditions. They saw them chop wood, build fires, cook their suppers and afterwards to wash their dishes, bank their fires and retire.

The 14 patrols participating were from the following troops: troop 61 of Mercer county, troop 42 of Warren county, troop 34 of Clarion and Venango counties, troop 17 of Homestead, troop 7 of East Boroughs, troop 3 of Indiana county, troop 10 of Duquesne, troop 1 of Butler, troop 150 of Allegheny county, troop 1 of New Bedford, troop 2 of McKean and Potter counties, troop 1 of McKeesport, troop 10 of Washington county and troop 22 of Erie county.

This morning the entire encampment arose at five o'clock, policed the grounds and prepared their breakfasts. Shortly afterwards the judges made an inspection of the camp. Then the boys were left to pack their equipment, which was done by nine o'clock, Eastern Standard time.

Camporee Project

After a short rest period the camporee project, last on the program, was given to each patrol. In one hour it had to be completed. Each patrol leader assigned parts of the project to each of his Scouts. The parts of the project follow:

1. Have a Scout collect, identify and list on paper, then report to the judge the leaves of 10 different kinds of trees.
2. Build a fire with natural wood materials, using not more than two matches furnished by the judge, and keep the fire burning until told to extinguish it.
3. Go a mile at Scout pace from the totem pole in front of the dining hall on the road.
4. Get a two-pound stone.
5. Bake two potatoes as for the second-class test and bring both to the judge.
6. A directional test with the compass.
7. Have a Scout draw a map, taking in the territory within one-eighth of a mile of the patrol stake, using at least eight conventional signs.
8. Signaling test.
9. The patrol leader is to line up his patrol, report to the chief judge and have his patrol repeat the Scout oath and law in unison.

When the project had been completed each patrol packed their equipment in automobiles and started for their homes.

What the national council and region three think of Camp Phillips was explained to a representative of The News Friday evening by Major Seymour and Mr. Wessel. Both of these men have been through most of the boys' camps in the whole of the United States and both report that Camp Phillips is one of the best in the country. They say that they would sooner send their own sons to the Lawrence County Council's camp than any other place in America.

Friday Afternoon

Early Friday afternoon, before the camporee proper was started, officials from the 14 participating councils held a meeting in one of the camp huts, at which time the judges to assist Mr. Wessell, Mr. Cairns, Major Seymour and Major Van Der Vort in judging the boys were named. After this William Wessell, asistant camp director from national Scout headquarters at New York city, outlined briefly what was expected to be accomplished by the camporee.

"Through this method," stated Mr. Wessell, we hope that officials will take back to their home councils the idea of troop and patrol overnight hiking. We expect to demonstrate, or to have demonstrated, the best methods by which patrols can make themselves comfortable in the open. For, after all, the patrol is the basic unit of the troop. In spirit and sportsmanship we find the patrol system of overnight hiking to be the best.

Judges Named

The judges named for the camporee were as follows: chief judge, William Wessel; assistant national camp director, of New York City; assistant judges: Tom Cairns, Philadelphia council field executive; Major R. F. Seymour, third region Scout executive, and Major D. B. Van Der Boe, assistant third region Scout executive. These judges were helped by the following associate judges from the various councils: R. S. Schar, LeRoy Norton, F. W. Larsen, Allen Parrish, Ross Leffler, Joseph Rannigan, C. W. Rodgers, Joseph Porter, J. Lyndon Antz, William Dukes and John Rhodes.

The councils represented at the camporee were Warren county, Erie county, Washington county, Allegheny county, East Boroughs, Butler county, Lawrence county, McKeesport, Duquesne, Homestead, Mercer county, Clarion-Venango counties, McKean-Potter counties and Indiana county.

Program Starts

Promptly at four o'clock, Eastern Standard time, 13 of the 14 participating patrols assembled on the drill field to the rear of the main camp building. Pictures were taken, after which they started to hike over a measured mile course, ending at the baseball field. There each patrol was inspected for pack appearance, proper method of carrying equipment and pack, suitable clothing, including shoes, the waterproofing of the pack and the distribution of all equipment.

When they had been inspected by the officials each patrol was assigned a camp site, where they pitched pup tents, built fires, cooked their suppers.

Because it was thought better to stimulate a real spirit of camaraderie between the members of each patrol, the general campfire was dispensed with and in its place each of the patrols had their own campfire program. All during this time the judges circulated among the different camps, judging on the location of shelter, location of the cooking fire, the care of the woodcutting place, the care of personal equipment, the preparation of the shelter, the condition of the beds, tools and appliances and first aid equipment.

While the members of each of the patrols were cooking their dinners other judges circulated through the camps, inspecting the different menus, the supplies, food storage, cooking and serving and general cleanliness.

Mayor Gives Welcome

At the dinner held by officials and judges in the main dining hall, Dr. W. Charles Wallace, president of the Lawrence County Council, Boy Scouts of America, and also president of Westminster College, introduced Mayor William H. Gillespie of New Castle, who welcomed the visiting councils officially. Dr. Wallace stated that one of the reasons why scouting has progressed in Lawrence county was because of the wholehearted co-operation of both the city and county officials.

"You Scout leaders have before you a great duty," asserted Mayor Gillespie, "for you are making the future citizens of the United States. You are giving to them a wholesome program. You are developing the boy, the boy in whose hands will rest the future of these United States. For the nation depends on scouting, just as it depends on the schools and the church.

"On every side these United States are beset with people who want to pull down the existing government. In its place they want to substitute the ideas of the I. W. W., of the Soviet of Red Russia. But it is through the youth, the youth to whom you are giving such ideals, that our government will be saved. The task is for you, for the schools and for the church.

"For the Lawrence county council I wish to welcome you to Camp Phillips. I hope that the work here will be a benefit to boys all over western Pennsylvania. I hope that everyone will come to recognize the sacredness of the work that you are doing.

"That Camp Phillips is the success it is, Lawrence county can thank J. Lee Calahan, the county executive. He has done wonders while he has been in the county, and I predict that he will go high in his profession. Again I wish to welcome you and to tell you that New Castle, as well as the whole of Lawrence county, stands ready to help you in every way possible."

Major Seymour Responds

In reply to tthe mayor's address of welcome, Major R. F. Seymour expressed the appreciation of the 14 Scout councils represented at the camporee.

"We are glad to be here," added the major. "If we can, we shall do all in our power to aid in developing leadership in the boys. America can rest assured. They need not fear for tomorrow's manpower."

At the dinner it was stated that much of the success of the camporee was due to the work of the regional committee on camporee, composed of Andy Benson, Scout executive of the Lawrence County Council; Waldo Robb of the McKeesport Council, Jack Watson of the Washington, Pa., Council, and the clerk, Kenyon Woody of McKeesport.

After dinner the general public was admitted to the camping sites, where they watched boys camping under actual outdoors conditions. Following this a short session of the Scout Executives' Seminar took place in the new Charles McConnell memorial cabin, made possible through the generosity of the New Castle Rotary Club.

All during Friday night and early Saturday morning the judges patrolled the camp sites, making inspections.

Hoover Friendly To Farm Relief, McNary Asserts

Senator McNary Confers With Hoover On Agriculture And Finds Warm Feeling

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Following a conference with Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential nominee, today, Senator McNary (R) of Oregon, co-author of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, declared that he "had found Hoover sympathetic and anxious to relieve the distress of the farm population."

"The agricultural plank in the Republican platform commits the party to the enactment of legislation that will place agriculture on a basis of economic equality with industry," McNary said.

"The party must keep this pledge and I have ample confidence that it will."

McNary, pointing out that the time is not far distant when the country will consume its entire farm crop surplus, added, however, that "in the meantime and at the earliest possible date, we should do all that is possible legislatively to remove agricultural depression which has weakened the whole economic structure."

Admitting that he still stood for the McNary-Haugen bill, McNary said that honest differences of opinion have prevented the correction of the situation and the application of an appropriate and effective remedy.

"However, the necessity for some measure of relief is so imperative as to warrant the supposition that differences of opinion must be composed and a common ground found for successful congregational action," McNary declared.

Father Seeks Son Who Left His Home

T. D. Vincent of Burgettstown, Pa. called at the police station today asking the assistance of the local department in an attempt to locate his son and two other boys who left Burgettstown in a Ford truck, Pennsylvania license 808-807. He stated that he had traced them to Beaver Falls and then toward this city. The missing son of Mr. Vincent is Raymond Vincent aged 17. One of the other boys is Leonard Thornburg aged 17 and an Italian boy whose name he did not know.

The poor miss nothing. The caddies get as much exercise as the golfers and escape the anxiety.

MOVING HOUSES OFF OF CAMPUS

Work Of Enlarging Westminster College Campus Now Under Way

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, June 16. — With the beginning of wrecking operations one one building and the digging of cellars on several lots, work on the beautification plans for the Westminster campus started in full swing this week. Contracts for the construction of four cellars on lots northeast of the campus were let to the local Minteer and Anderson contractors.

Upon the completion of the new cellars, four of the houses now situated in the middle of the new campus will be moved to the new situations.

Tomorrow morning, the local Methodist church will hold its annual Children's Day exercises. At the time of the regular morning service, the children will stake a pageant in the church. About 32 of the members of the Sabbath school will take part in these exercises.

C. H. Olsen, recently elected coach and gymnasium instructor of the local high school visited here yesterday on his way home to Wildwood, N. J. Mr. Olsen was very pleased with the conditions as he saw them now and plans to continue to enhance New Wilmington's athletic prowess.

Among the local people who attended the Shriners meeting in New Castle were Dr. W. A. Clark, and Trevor O. Hogue.

Word was received here by Mrs. J. H. Boyd that her son John had successfully completed all of his first year's work at West Virginia University Medical school.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

OLIVER OSTRICH PROVES TO BE A FRIEND

"Of course we had heard of the ostrich!" continued Bobolink, staring at Peter as if he dared the boy to contradict him.

"Of course!" agreed Peter, quickly.

"Well, we thought we knew all about him. Why, when we were tiny nestlings we had been taught to respect his very name. But we could hardly believe that we were now face to face with a bird so famous. He looked so different from what we had expected.

"I thought it best to speak politely to him. He could have bitten off both our little heads with one bite.

"'I didn't mean to hurt your feelings, dear Oliver Ostrich,' said I. 'But your legs are so long—'

"'All the better to run with,' declared Ostrich, interrupting me. I continued.

"'And your head is so small—'

"'All the better to bury in the sand,' shrilled Ostrich.

"'And your neck stretches so high into the air and it has scarcely a feather upon it!'

"'All the better for me to find out what is going on. And let me tell you, little bird, I have all the feathers I need right on my body. I guess you would think so if you saw the plumes that I lose at clipping time'. Ostrich stamped on the ground with his big foot.

"'But you are so queer—I mean you're so wonderful to look upon. That is why my wife and I didn't know you at once.'

"Oliver Ostrich had been getting crosser and crosser at each remark I made, but at my last words he brightened right up and actually smiled at us. And the big bird looked so funny I almost chirped out loud.

"'Oh, well if that is the reason you didn't recognize me that's different,' said Ostrich. 'Now that I have talked to you I find you are two rather pleasant little birds after all!

"'Say, little birds, do you live around here? I have never seen you before. You don't? I thought not! How would you like to visit me?'

"Even when Bobolinks are surprised, they never forget their manners. So no sooner had Oliver Ostrich asked wife and me if we would like to be his guests I answered, quickly as I could—

"'We'd like to very much indeed! Where do you live sir?'

"YOUR HEAD IS SO SMALL'—"ALL THE BETTER TO BURY IN THE SAND" SAID OSTRICH

"Way off yonder, little birds!' declared Oliver Ostrich, 'and in a town I'll be you never heard of, folks in this part call it Rhea City!'"

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, June 16.—At a party the other evening, there was another kind of question and answer contest. Guests were required to write, upon an unsigned paper, a response to the query, "Why do you like New York?" The answers were shuffled, then read one by one, and guests invited to guess the author of each.

The most interesting response, it seemed to me, was that of the man who wrote: "I like New York because it is a place I can wear the kind of clothes I want without being kidded about my possibly fantastic tastes, and without being thought queer."

New York is remarkable that way. Persons will gather into an attentive circle to see a safe lowered out of an office window, or a fellow fixing a flat tire, or a man demonstrating a fountain pen in a window; but a religious fanatic in bare feet and flowing beard, or a Hindu prince in full regalia, or a movie star in his "Sunday best", may walk up and down Fifth avenue without turning heads. On the coldest day in December, with snow whipping in flurries around the library, I walked up Fifth avenue, toting atop my cranium the widest-brimmed straw hat I could buy in Nicaragua, to deliver it to Burton Rascoe, without attracting visible attention.

Notable men wear, in New York, clothes they wouldn't have the courage to be seen in back in the old home town.

The loudest shirts worn on Broadway are not those of O. D. McIntyre, as he, himself, claims, but are the extraordinarily hued garments of Arthur Hammerstein, the play producer, and D. W. Griffith, the cine-maker.

Possibly the most extraordinary dresser in town is Achmed Abdullah, the short story writer, who is a native Afghan. He wears Anglo-American clothes that are more unusual in effect than his native costumes would be. His double-breasted coats of deep purple or sky blue have enormous white buttons. His fancy camel's hair waistcoats are of all sorts of clashing colors. With these go spats, a gray fedora, shirts of vivid hues, and an elaborately carved walking stick. His cigaret holders are a foot or more in length. He not only appears in public thus attired, but seemingly never attracts a second glance.

Hizzoner, the mayor, and Adolphe Menjou, the cinema actor, are considered the "best-dressed men" in town. Both go in for spats, colorful shirts and such things.

The Rev. Thomas H. Whelpley, pastor of the Chelsea Presbyterian church in West Twenty-third street, is "learning about life" by driving a taxi at night.

"I'm not trying to reform anyone or to look for horrible examples. . . . I wouldn't have to drive a taxi to do that," he says.

Instead of discouraging poets, of which editors estimate there are 100 times too many, New York encourages them. Poetry House has been opened in East Tenth street as a meeting place for poets and readers of poetry, i. e., of manufacturer and consumer. The house will assure poets a hearing and, sometimes, a square deal.

Foster's Weather Prognostication

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Following the severe storm wave expeted to cross continent during week centering on June 12, a period of cool, wet, severe weather is expected to cover continent east of Rockies, moderate to heavy precipitation on north Pacific slope and conditions favorable to formation of hail and high winds in northern and western Great Central valleys and severe local storms in southwest.

A storm wave of moderate intensity will cross continent during week centering on 19, moving in northern transcontinental storm path but influencing entire continent by causing higher average temperatures and decreasing precipitation during and following storm center. June 19 to 27 is expected to average as far above normal temperatures as period 13 to 19 forecasts were below normal temperatures, but will be favorable to general crops excepting in area from Rockies east to longitude 97, where more precipitation would probably be welcome at this time. Storm wave of mild force expected to cross continent in northern transcontinental storm path during week centering on 25 will be of little importance excepting its general influence toward lower average temperatures and increase in precipitation following storm center.

During last part of June, conditions will be established that will cause area of greatest precipitation to move eastward; during June 25 to July 31, heaviest precipitation will be expected in eastern part of continent and on Atlantic coast, sections 2, 4 and 6 on my map of weather sections. General precipitation of the continent will, however, decrease after July 1, and until end of growing season.

Facts About Optometry

By ARTHUR B. FOSTER OPTOMETRIST,

449 East Washington Street

Optometry is unlike any other profession in that so large a percentage of the public require an eye service without being aware of the fact.

Please note that word service. One of the greatest changes that has taken place in Optometry is in the growing practice of referring to the work of the Optometrist as service. The Optometrist favors the use of this term, as the greatest value he renders his patients is determining what errors of vision exist, and how they may be corrected. And these duties are properly referred to as service.

GARDNER

For 2½ years a private home in Gardner has been open every Sunday for a Bible school. Now our folks think the time has come when we need a community church. Mr. Myers has kindly consented to be the solicitor for the village, as it will require quite a sum to secure a building. We have always used the quarterlies and supplies from the American Sunday School Union in Philadelphia and will continue to do so as this must be a community church. All the men in Gardner are asked to meet next Monday night at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Hay to discuss this matter, appoint committees, etc. A good attendance is earnestly requested.

Mrs. Homer Houk and Mrs. Luella Ribor of New Castle were dinner guests at the Comstock home in Gardner on Thursday.

Mrs. Willard Kennedy of Gardner sang a beautiful solo at the missionary convention at Center U. P. church last Tuesday. Mrs. Kennedy has had vocal training for several years and her rendering of "The Melody of Home" was greatly appreciated by the large audience which was present.

Mrs. E. O. Alexander of Gardner spent three weeks with relatives at Albion, Pa. Mrs. Wood and daughter Ella Jane of that place came home with Mrs. Alexander last Wednesday night and will remain several days.

POST IS NAMED ON BUILDING COMMITTEE

Storms Delaying Start Of Flights

Women Fliers Still Being Held On American Coast Because Of Weather

(International News Service)

ST. JOHN'S N. F., June 16.—Storms over the Atlantic held out small hope that Miss Amelia Earhart and Miss Mabel Boll would be able to start on their respective flights to Europe today.

Miss Earhart and her companions Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon, have not yet decided whether they will attempt to fly to the Azores or to Ireland. They will test the tri-motored monoplane Friendship today with sufficient fuel aboard to take them to Ireland. If the plane will rise under the heavy burden they probably will fly there.

Miss Boll and her crew, Captains Oliver Le Boutillier and Arthur Argles paid a visit to this place yesterday and received a great welcome. They anounced they will start their flight in the Columbia as soon as the weather permitted.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Rescue Of Greely

IN 1881, LIEUT. A. W. GREELY, OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY, LED AN EXPEDITION IN A DARING DASH FOR THE POLE, AND CARRIED THE AMERICAN FLAG TO THE FURTHEST POINT NORTH REACHED AT THAT TIME. GREELY'S SHIP BECAME IMPRISONED IN THE ICE PACK AT LADY FRANKLIN BAY AND WAS HELD THERE FOR TWO YEARS.

RELIEF EXPEDITIONS SENT IN SEARCH OF GREELY FOUND THEIR WAY BARRED BY VAST ICE FIELDS, AND ONE OF THE RESCUE SHIPS WAS SUNK. IN RESPONSE TO THE PUBLIC DEMAND, THE NAVY IN 1883 SENT LIEUT.-COMMANDER (LATER ADMIRAL) W. S. SCHLEY INTO THE ARCTIC WITH THREE SHIPS TO HUNT FOR THE MISSING MEN.

WHILE THE SEARCH WENT ON, THE GREELY PARTY SUFFERED UNTOLD PRIVATIONS. AT LAST, GREELY AND THE TWENTY-FIVE SURVIVORS ABANDONED THEIR SHIP AND BRAVELY STARTED SOUTHWARD IN OPEN BOATS. REACHING SABINE BAY, THEY FOUND MOST OF THEIR CACHE OF FOOD HAD SPOILED.

IN JUNE, 1884, THE RESCUERS FOUND GREELY AND SIX MEN STARVING AND TOO WEAK TO MOVE. ALL THE REST HAD DIED, AND THE SURVIVORS HAD BEEN REDUCED TO EATING THEIR SHOES, GLOVES AND MOSS.

Alleged Drunken Driver Cases On Trial At Court

Jury Is Unable To Agree In George Hammond Case And Is Discharged

Ben Police and Paul Petrillo are on trial before Judge Chambers in county court today, the former on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and the latter on a charge of allowing an intoxicated person to operate a machine. The two men were together and it was Petrillo's automobile.

Before Judge Hildebrand the case of James Betkes, charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, is on trial.

There have been a large number of cases of alleged operation of autos by intoxicated persons before the present session of court. In two instances juries have disagreed and several verdicts of not guilty have been rendered.

In one of the cases in which a verdict of not guilty was rendered, Judge Hildebrand expressed surprise that the jury should have reached such a verdict, as there were some half dozen witnesses who testified that the man was intoxicated. Judge Hildebrand said that if the officers were expected to make the highways safe for public travel, persons who are called as jurors should give the evidence more careful consideration.

In the case of the commonwealth against Florence Gibbs, charged with possessing liquor, the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

CAPT. COURTNEY IS PREPARING FOR OCEAN HOP

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 16.—Capt. Frank T. Courtney, who flew from Italy to Portugal on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight, was still in Lisbon today making final preparations for the long jump over the ocean, said a dispatch from that city. Courtney expects to hop off on Monday unless the Italian government accepts his offer to join the Nobile rescue air fleet.

A Statement From Lawrence County Council Boy Scouts of America

Owing to the fact that this Council has been carrying a deficit on account of the shrinkage in the Community Chest subscription payments from year to year, we are facing a shortage of funds and unless they are forth coming it will be impossible to keep the Boy Scout Camp open this summer, which would be a distinct loss to the community, and no one would want to see that happen, and it won't if you will help fill the Scottish Rite auditorium, Friday night, June 29 at which time a vodeville and Minstrel show is being planned to take care of this deficit. Will you not help in this small way?

Mrs. Herbert Hoover Holds High Position In Capitol Circles

Wife Of Republican Presidential Nominee Is Real American Bred Woman

Has Struggled With Hoover In Climb Up Ladder; Active Girl Scout Worker

By RUTH ELEANOR JONES
I. N. S. Special Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—A true cosmopolite like her distinguished husband—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who may be the next first lady of the land, has been a striking figure in the ultra-exclusive social life of the national capital for ten years.

Since Mr. Hoover came to Washington from his work as Belgian relief administrator to become food administrator during the World war, Mrs. Hoover has been perhaps his most trusted advisor.

Mrs. Hoover always has helped him in his difficult tasks, adding her social tact and grace to the assets of political life in Washington, discharging her household duties with the same ease and poise with which she discharges her official duties as a cabinet officer's wife—duties well known as taxing and onerous.

Is Cosmopolitan.

Like her husband, Mrs. Hoover is cosmopolitan, having gone with him to all parts of the world when he was carving out his earlier fortune in the profession of mining engineering.

She has lived in China, Australia, Mandalay, Paris, London, Brussels and many other countries and cities of the world where Hoover became a familiar and powerful figure.

Life in the open and life in the drawing room never have dulled Mrs. Hoover's interest in her home. It always has held first place in her affections. During her earlier years in Washington much of her time was required in the education of her two sons, Herbert, Jr., and Allan Harry Hoover.

Now the older boy is in instructor in the Harvard business school, is married and has two children—Peggy Ann, two, and Herbert Hoover the third, eight months. Both of the grandchildren of the Republican nominee are frequent visitors to the Hoover home and in command of the situation whenever they visit there.

No doubt they will be the White House "mascots", if their grandfather becomes president.

Married 30 Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were married nearly 30 years ago when they were fellow students at Leland Stanford university in California. They were brought together by a common interest in geology, so the legend goes.

Hoover graduated as a mining engineer, having no capital but his brains, and was about to accept an assignment in China when he decided the best thing to do was to marry his fiancee, whose maiden name was Miss Lou Henry, and to take her with him.

The story of how, when speed was all important, they were unable to find a minister of their own faith in a California village they were married by a Roman Catholic priest, already has been told.

In Washington, Mrs. Hoover has been known for her interest in the Girl Scouts, an organization which has thrived under her efforts. She is still "on the sunny side" of 50, is active and even athletic.

In the day time Mrs. Hoover usually affects a tailored habit which distinguishes her among the society women of Washington. She is of medium height and has silver-gray hair which often is worn braided.

Her interest in women workers for the federal government probably will be even more evident if she becomes mistress of the White House. It is said she is a great lover of home cooking and has no great taste for social functions.

Dr. Notestein, 78, Dies At Wooster

Noted Latin Scholar Victim Of Heart Disease; Rites Set For Today

WOOSTER, Ohio, June 16.—Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 5 for Dr. Jonas O. Notestein, noted Latin scholar, who died here this morning.

Dr. Notestein has been a member of the Wooster college faculty since 1873, and had just ended his 55th year in the Latin department.

He had been in ill health for some time. However, his condition was not thought to be serious.

Wooster college authorities plan to have memorial services for him shortly after school opens in the fall.

Dr. Notestein was graduated from Wooster college in 1873. He and Dr. Elias Compton, just retired after 45 years of teaching, received the highest grades ever made by Wooster students.

Dr. Notestein had honorary degrees from Wooster, the University of Pittsburgh and Wabash. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Air Pocket Just Myth Is Theory

EDWARD L. WELLS

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 16.—Following the first successful flights in heavier-than-air craft by the Wright brothers, many men in many places have built and flown various types of airplanes.

Occasionally airplanes have "disappeared" and air pockets or vacuums have been blamed for the catastrophes.

Until the last few years there has been no definite knowledge of air currents and their effects on planes in flight. Now Edward L. Wells, meteorologist for the weather bureau here, has determined that the "air pocket" is wholly a myth.

"In the earlier days of aviation," he comments, "if a plane crashed the pilot and passengers were killed instantly and there was no way to determine whether some part of the machine had failed, or an error had bene made in piloting the craft.

Air Pockets Blamed.

"Witnesses of these crashes seeing the plane drop for no apparent reason and having no knowledge of air currents, reasoned that the plane must have flown into an area that did not have sufficient air to support the plane and they erroneously named this area an 'air pocket.'

"This term has been passed on until now it sometimes is used by those who should and do know better."

During his work for the weather bureau Wells has studied the matter of air pressures and his opinions and explanations come with a stamp of authority. No longer need you fear an airplane will drop out and leave you stranded in the air because of vacuums.

"If by the term 'air pocket' one means a small localized area of rarified air which fails to support a plane because of its low density," he says, "there is only one place where this is to be found. That is the center of a tornado, where the violence of the whirling motion produces a partial vacuum.

"There are two factors in the flight of aircraft; one is the resistance of the air to the propeller blades, and the other is the resistance of the air to the wings. If the plane is to fly, these two factors must be in the right relation to each other.

Air Currents a Factor.

"Thus it is conceivable that in passing quickly from one air current to another having a different direction or velocity, the plane will be thrown off balance. This may occur when the horizontal direction or velocity changes suddenly, as it must often do in rapid climbing, or in gusty weather.

"It will occur most often when there are well defined vertical currents. There is more interchange of air between high and low levels than is commonly supposed. In all violent storms vertical currents are pronounced. Air in blowing over a mountain range is deflected from the horizontal.

"On clear days where there are adjacent land and water surfaces, the air likely is rising over the land and falling over the water. At night the reverse may be true. In the mountains winds blow up the valleys during day and blow down during night.

"Such rising and falling currents necessarily cause some difficulty in flying and have doubtlessly given rise to the conception of 'air pockets' or holes in the air."

why Experienced Owners Demand Bodies by Fisher

In Oakland-Pontiac showrooms throughout the United States a special Fisher Body Demonstration opens Saturday, June 16. Co-operating with the Fisher Body Corporation, Oakland has arranged to demonstrate to automobile owners everywhere the reasons for the superiority and popularity of Fisher bodies.

You have heard the Fisher emblem on automobiles compared to the "sterling" mark on silver. You have read that Fisher construction, combining selected hardwood and steel, is stauncher and more enduring. You have heard Fisher body craftsmen referred to as the foremost builders of automobile bodies in the world.

Come to our showroom during the Fisher Body Demonstration and find out why all these statements are true. Learn how Fisher builds bodies and what high quality of materials is used. See for yourself why experienced owners demand bodies by Fisher. Don't miss this opportunity to gain a sound understanding of such an important part of your automobile.

CONFESSES TO MURDER HERE

Colored Man Brought To New Castle For Trial Claims Self Defense

In a statement Friday afternoon, Eugene Anderson, age 32, colored, charged with the murder of Dile Allen on the night of April 29, 1925, confessed to the crime and described in detail the incidents leading up to the crime and the actual killing itself. Self defense was given as his reason for the murder.

In his statement Anderson said that he had come to New Castle a few days before the trouble and had been given a job in the B. & O. work camp. Shortly after he started there, trouble developed between him and Dile Allen.

On the night of the crime, Anderson stayed in camp and Allen and some friends went to New Castle. About one o'clock in the morning, Anderson says, they came back, Allen being "teed up." As he walked into the bunk room he asked Anderson what he was doing there. Anderson replied that he had a right in there to which Allen replied that he was going to put him out.

Anderson says that Allen walked back to his bunk and then came towards him. Suddenly one of the other workmen yelled "look out" and Anderson looked up in time to see Allen striking at him with a knife. Anderson ducked but not quick enough to avoid getting cut on the shoulders.

He says that he picked up a piece of iron pipe and knocked the knife out of Allen's hands and then picking up the knife, cut Allen's throat. Then he fled. Until daylight he stayed in the yards then got a freight which took him to Newark, O., and from there he drifted around, finally landing in Cincinnati, O.

In Cincinnati, O., he got into more trouble and shot a man to death but claims that a reversal of a guilty verdict gave him an acquittal on the second trial.

Anderson realizes that he is in a serious predicament, but insists that he killed Allen to save himself, and that he intends to tell the jury nothing but the truth.

Public School Pupil Costs $102 Per Year

WASHINGTON, June 16.—That the price of educating a public school pupil has nearly tripled in the past 15 years is shown by figures compiled by the Federal Bureau of Education. In 1913 the cost was $38.31 and the present figures is $102.50.

Expenditures for public school buildings have almost doubled since 1920, with the peak being reached in 1925, when $433,000,000 was spent for new buildings. In 1926, however, the annual expenditure for public school buildings decreased $22,000,000, indicating, the bureau said, that construction had overtaken the shortage caused by the World War. The bureau attributed the increase in school expenditures to the decreased purchasing power of the dollar and the general improved school facilities.

Fellow Rotarian:

Out in Kansas City the farmers have been demanding economic justice for the agricultural industry. And they will probably be in Houston. Evidently something is wrong. Harold McCulloch has secured a speaker who will explain a lot of things along this line. Mr. Howard G. Neisley, assistant director, agricultural extension, Penn State College, will address us on "Town and Country Interdependence".

Mr. Neilsey will emphasize the things that should be faced by both town and country to insure a prosperous community.

Ellwood Gilbert attended Ellwood Rotary, which in the words of Ben Graham, was very apropos.

Credit Is Insurance

NATIONAL RETAIL CREDIT ASSOCIATION — CHARACTER

Credit is the best insurance the poor man has against illness and adversity. To keep this insurance in force one has only to pay one's bills when due; establish the reputation for honest and fair dealing.

Business is largely done on credit. When one consumer, however humble, fails in his or her duty to maintain a good credit rating, the entire fabric of business is weakened to just that extend.

Your merchant works for you. He supplies you with your daily needs, as they arise. He is entitled to his wage, which is whatever you owe him.

Lodge Elects New Officers For Year

ELLWOOD CITY, June 16.—At the semi-monthly meeting of the Fraternal Patriotic American lodge which took place in the First National bank building Friday evening, final nominations and election of officers for the ensuing term took place.

The new officers are: Counselor, Jonathan Jacobs; vice counselor, James J. Davis; recording secretary, G. S. Mook; financial secretary, A. J. Howell; trustee, W. H. Howell; warden, Floyd Lash; junior past counselor, Frank Fortney, Jr.

Marriage Announced Of Young Couple

ELLWOOD CITY, June 16.—It became known today that William Welhausen of the Ellwood-New Castle road and Miss Louella Evans of Pittsburgh were united in marriage Tuesday, June 12, in Cumberland, Md.

At the conclusion of a brief tour, the young couple will make their home in this locality. Mr. Welhausen is well known here and hosts of friends wish him well.

SERVEL Electric Refrigeration

6 reasons why you will want the new Servel

1. Greater beauty and simplicity in design—inside and out.
2. Better construction and finish. Heavy pressed "Armco" steel with one-piece lining of porcelain.
3. Simpler, sturdier mechanical equipment—quiet, fool-proof and more economical to run.
4. The coldest refrigerant—hence the most efficient—in household use.
5. Greater freezing capacity—more ice trays—more cubes—easier to handle—quick to freeze.
6. Better temperature control—entirely automatic. No delicate devices to get out of order.

You can buy Servel on easy terms

Any of the Servel models, as well as the Servel installation in your own refrigerator, can be purchased for a moderate first payment and the balance spread over a convenient term of months. Ask for details.

Members Of Choir Enjoy Banquet At Church Friday Night

Two Losing Attendance Teams Banquet Winners Preceding The Weekly Practice

ELLWOOD CITY, June 16.—Members of the two losing teams in the recent attendance contest, who were captained by Mrs. Ernest Reinheimer and Mrs. B. J. Bell, served a banquet to the two winning teams Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the dining room of the Lutheran church.

Covers were laid for 30 and the tables were in a U shape, decorated with crimson roses, with tapers to match. At each guest's place was a snapping favor containing caps and little trinkets.

At the conclusion of the menu an informal program of music was enjoyed, after which Charles Carbeau, president of the choir, conducted a short business meeting, appointing new teams for the captains for the ensuing contest which will terminate August 1. The members also voted to donate $100 of their pledge to the building fund.

Hosts and hostesses last evening were Mrs. Ernest Reinheimer, Mrs. Burton Bell, Mrs. Kleindenst, Miss Eurilda Bingle, Miss Marie Dahl, Miss Mary Blocher, Mrs. Charles Carbeau, Miss Irene Keistling, Mrs. VanGorder, Clarence Hollerman, B. J. Bell, Michael Losch, George Zekall, Andy Zekali and C. W. Carbeau.

Gimmel-Baxter Nuptials Event Of This Morning

Well-Known Local Young Couple Have Quiet Ceremony Early This Morning

ELLWOOD CITY, June 16. — Miss Ruth Gimmel, daughter of Mrs. Della Gimmel of Park avenue, became the wife of James W. Baxter of this city, this morning, at her home.

The ceremony took place at 6:45 o'clock with Rev. A. M. Stevenson of the First Presbyterian church officiating. The ring ceremony was used, and the couple was unattended. The ceremony was witnessed only by the immediate families.

The bride looked charming in a gown of blue georgette and lace, carrying a bouquet of bridal roses and valley lilies.

Immediately following the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter left on a post-nuptial trip through southern Tennessee, Kentucky and Illinois. After the first of July they will be at home to their friends in the Lundgren apartments on Crescent avenue.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Baxter have been identified with the National Tube company for several years, and have hosts of friends to wish them happiness.

Dance Marathons At Pittsburgh To Continue On Boat

Plan To Convey Pittsburgh Dance Contestants To Boat And Dance During Sunday

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 16. — Boats will be in order tomorrow to span the "No Sunday dancing" breach in the three local dance marathons under way here today.

At both the Academy and Duquesne Garden the dancers are biding their time until tonight when they will be transported to boats and carried to someplace where they can dance on without violating the blue law, at Motor Square, however, where negroes are holding forth, it was undecided what would happen at midnight.

There were 73 couples in the three contests today. Four couples in the academy contest were starting to pile up hours beyond the 203 hour mark at eight o'clock this morning.

"Moving van dancing" will be a feature of the Duquesne Garden affair tonight. Since the trip from the garden to the boat cannot be made within a 15-minute rest period, it has been arranged to place the contestants in moving vans and let them dance on to the tune of "canned" music.

Curran Heirs Seek Division Of Will

(International News Service)

SHARON, Pa., June 16.—Heirs of the late William Curran of Philadelphia are today attempting to have his $8,000,000 estate divided.

Curran, a relative of R. A. Curran of this city, died 50 years ago. He left a provision in his will that his estate was not to be divided until it reached a certain sum.

One half of the money was left to relatives and the other half was left to Geneva college, Beaver Falls. There are believed to be eleven living heirs.

The ideal anti-war pact is one that will protect each nation from aggression and leave it free to use its own judgment.

Vacation Bible School To Open In Bethany Church

Unable To Agree Jury Is Discharged In Hammond Case

After being out from 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon until 11:30 last night the jury in the case of the commonwealth against George Hammond was unable to agree and was discharged by Judge Chambers. The case was one in which Hammond was charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He denied the charge. The jury was composed of four women and eight men. When it was found that they were deadlocked and faced the prospect of remaining out all night, Judge Chambers was notified by telephone and agreed to come down. After hearing the statement that there was no chance of agreement, the jury was discharged.

Jurors Discharged; New Jury Next Week

Jurors who have been in attendance at court this week were discharged at the conclusion of cases on trial today. Another jury has been summoned for next week, when one murder case and a number of other cases are listed for trial.

Fistic Colony Yearns For Action At Bowl

Appears As Though Emmett Rocco Is Somewhat Incensed And His Demand That Levinsky Be Secured As His Foe Shows That Ellwood City's "Big Boy" Doesn't Intend To Let The Ex-Lightweight Champion Stand Between Him And Further Progress

By ED. FRITZ

Before many days have passed the Army of the Tin Ears will commence marching on the Jolly Bowl, where the Art of Manly Self-Defense will be expressed in a professional way by some of the more important members of that pugnacious tribe. And if we have been informed correctly by the promotin' gentleman, one Bill Jolly, men and women who yearn for the caveman type will have their inning equally as often as their brethren and sisters who like to watch the pink tea artists glide thither and hither while they lash out with fists.

At any rate, the open air boxing season is to commence June 25, with Emmett Rocco, the tarzan of the Connoquenessing, as one of the principals. Knowing Emmett and having witnessed him in combat, we believe that any gentleman who plays the opposite role has assuredly assigned himself to a tough engagement.

Seeks "Long Green"

Mr. Rocco, who is sometimes referred to as the Big Boy from Ellwood City, is a fighter. In fact, there is sense as to why he is fighting. He wants to clean up a couple of thousand as soon as possible, and like the hero we once read of in a Horatio Alger book, pay off the mortgage, then take it easy for the rest of his life. Being of a serious turn of mind, Emmett takes to heart the reports flashed from Akron that one Battling Levinsky, former light-heavyweight champion of the world, polished him for a decision, and when Bill Jolly conferred with the two Js, namely Dunn and Cumo, the said Rocco pounced into the negotiations with a plea of: "Take Levinsky, please".

Levinsky Agrees To Battle Rocco

Battling Levinsky, former light-heavyweight champion of the world who recently won a decision over Emmett Rocco at Akron today agreed to give Rocco a second chance and they will meet June 25 at the Jolly Bowl, this city. The bout is scheduled to go ten rounds.

This "Take Levinsky, please" plea certainly carried the day, as such a bout, if it can be arranged, will certainly prove a natural and result in an exciting setto. Levinsky knows his onions and has a lot of vim and pepper, according to the writers who covered the Akron bout. And, speaking of vim and pepper, Rocco, something of a Sampson in build, isn't lacking in those qualities. If Levinsky signs to meet Rocco, jab, smash, bam!

Bowl Looks Good

Drifting from the Levinsky-Rocco controversy, let it be said that the Jolly Bowl is the best bowl in this part of the country. It has the Erie arena faded and compares favorably with the more imposing fight arenas of the country. According to the draftsman, the place will accommodate 7,500 fans, which may be true, and which, again, may be a thousand off. However, if every seat is occupied the fighters will have plenty of pin money.

They say it cost Sir Willyum the Throttleman, who formerly operated the Jolly Fistic Circus, a cool $9,000 to build the arena and while some people may not appreciate boxing or an arena, it must be confessed that the way it has been constructed one of the eyesores, an important street intersection which had been covered with debris, will be eliminated. The place will be illuminated each night.

Colony Is Increasing

During the period of months that the Jolly Fistic Circus lived almost every fellow who wore his hair over his forehead yearned to earn a few dollars at the expense of some other person's appearance. Fighters were to be found on every corner in the town and it was not a difficult thing to grab 'em, toss 'em into the ring and they'd start without saying "Sic 'em!" Since the Jolly Bowl perked its nose into the air the army of Tin Ears has increased, and naturally Bill Jolly will appreciate it.

Another young chap who is engaged for a conflict is Johnny Datto, the Filipino. Johnny has the sock of a mule, the tread of a cat and the cunning of a fox, and there's no kidding about this. He is a high-priced performer, in fact a much better fighter than any of the ilk referred to herein, and when he steps forth in the future at the Jolly Bowl the fan who misses seeing him will miss an eyeful of action.

Installing Electric Lights

The bowl proper is near completion. The fence is being placed and the electricians go to work within a few days. While they are stringing the wires that will carry the illuminating current hundreds of ringside chairs will be placed in storage here, ready for occupancy when the Tin Ears greet each other, and when they do the largest crowd which ever witnessed a boxing bout in this section will be present, as the bowl will be a place where people can sit down in comfort and watch the sport if they care for it.

OTT AND COHEN, COEN AND LOTT — BY FEG MURRAY

Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

You must admit that baseball and tennis have very little in common. Except for Eppa Rixey being a good tennis players and Ty Cobb's son going in strongly for the game, there is little to connect a sport where one "throws a point" to one's opponent in order to make up for a supposed error of the umpire that favored the point-thrower, and a game in which saying you caught a ball when you really didn't is quite the thing to do, and in which a player would be laughed out of the league if he said he was out when the umpire called him safe.

But there is, in spite of the above, much in common between the New York Giants baseball club and the United States Davis Cup team, now on its way in quest of the historic bowl which France won from America in 1927. For the Giants have a Cohen and an Ott, and the Davis Cup team has a Coen and a Lott, and those who follow sports know full well that without Ott and Lott and Coen and Cohen many a victory would be lost to both teams. In fact, this youthful quartet have stolen the play away from veterans like Tilden, Hennessey, Jackson, and Roush on many occasions, and the U. S. A. and the Giants would do well to get a lot more tennis and baseball players like Lott and Coen and Cohen and Ott.

George Lott, who, by the way, was a good pitcher when he went to high school in Chicago, is the third ranking player in the country and has already scored in a doubles victory over Japan and two singles victories over China in the American Zone Davis Cup matches this year. "Junior" Coen, who is only 16, went to Mexico in April with the team, but did not play, but won a doubles match with Tilden against the Chinese, and a singles match against Japan.

Melvin Ott, 19-year-old baby of the Giants, is a precocious youth who always seems to get his base hits when they are needed most, and whose ability to play almost any position and faultless batting style finally made McGraw give him a permanent job in right field. Andy Cohen, in spite of all the stuff that was written about him when he made good on opening day, is still in there playing ball for all he is worth, and, though this Jewish star is no Rogers Hornsby, he is reliable and capable both at bat and afield.

Hoi Polloi Intelligentsia writes in to suggest that the addition of the following events would make the Olympic games more interesting:

Marathon dancing, gate-crashing, fly-swatting, picking up cigar butts and bits of paper, hand-shaking, back-slapping (or scratching), getting stations on the radio, tiddley-winks, mumbly-peg, and throwing the bull.

E. Hiler Hurls Flats To Win

E. Hiler pitched a masterful game at the Clifton Flats field on Friday night as the Clifton Flats team, leaders in the American section of the Twilight League, nosed out a 1 to 0 victory over the Lawrence Indies. There was one out in the eighth inning when the winning run was scored.

Hiler was about the whole works for the Flats team as it was his double in the eighth inning that sent H. Ryan over the plate with the winning run, Ryan had walked. Zidow opposed Hiler on the mound and although holding the Flats to three hits lost the verdict. Hiler set a new record in the Twilight League by fanning fourteen men. Zidow had nine strikeouts.

The fielding features of the game were turned in by Fabian and Mehalic of the losers. Y. Jones of the Indies was the heavy hitter of the game with a pair of doubles.

BAPTISTS LOSE TOUGH BATTLE

The Grace & Conn team defeated the First Baptists at Lehigh field on Friday night in a church league. The final score was 3 to 1.

Simon on the mound for the Grace & Congregational team pitched a fine game, allowing but five hits and fanning five men. Huston on the hill for the Baptists allowed six hits and fanned five. Fox, the stellar right fielder of the Baptists, was the only player able to hit Simon effectively. E Davis was the best sticker for the winners.

Methodists Trim Hakoah 13 To 10

The First Methodist team walloped the Hakoah team, 13 to 10, in a Church League game at the Colonial field on Friday night.

The game turned out to be an old-fashioned slugging bee, with the Hakoah team outhitting the Methodists, 18 to 13, but they could not hit when hits meant runs.

McKnight, the Methodist second baseman, smote a home run in the fourth inning with the bases full when Slovonsky and Solomon collided, losing the ball. Friedman led the Hakoah team at bat with four hits, while Rogovin and A. Plant had three hits apiece. For the Methodists the batting of E. Lockley, McKnight and A. Hughes featured.

Sport World Loses Two Kings In Year

By NORMAN E. BROWN,
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

It is doubtful whether any sport year has ever or ever will take from the spotlight any two more popular and famous figures than Walter Johnson and Bill Johnston—king of pitchers and prince of tennis—in their heyday.

Dempsey, idol of the fistic world for close to 10 years, is flirting with retirement, but the contemplated move cannot be accepted as a fact at this time.

It is an interesting coincidence that Johnson and Johnston, each in his own game, built fame around one attribute more than anything else. That was control.

Johnson, from the beginning to the end of his major league career, ranked as the game's greatest strikeout artist. Dazzy Vance, whiffing king of the National league, had not risen to fame until Johnson's days of speed—his greatest years—were past.

The veteran Washington hurler holds several strikeout records and has the honor of leading his league several times.

Johnston, too, was a disciple of control. Those who have followed tennis for the last quarter of a century and more, say that no one in that period could be classed as "Little Bill's" equal in placing his shots. Bill would work his opponent with deadly patience to the point where the former could drive a line shot to the corner of the court and then it would happen. Like a rifle bullet the ball would shoot to within an inch or two of the lime-marked line—for a point.

Johnston had to depend upon this unerring accuracy to overcome the handicap of endurance. Constantly facing men much larger and stronger than himself he had to conserve his energy. Through seven years' warfare in defense of the Davis cup, which he helped bring to the United States, Johnston hung up a great record, mainly because of this deadly accuracy and his courage.

He has held every tennis title that amounts to anything in the tennis world, the national singles title repeatedly, and shared honors with Tilden, Williams and others on the Davis cup team during the period of possession.

Oddly enough it might be said that Dempsey's unerring sense of timing and distance—the control of his punches—played an important part in his rise and reign.

While the former champion—in his prime—affected a weaving, rolling style of defense he was seldom off balance—seldom out of position to drive home a blow. His best punches were short, perfectly timed drives over the heart or to the jaw.

First Christians Defeat Mahoning

The First Christians downed the Mahoning M. E. team 8 to 1 in a postponed Church League game played at the Scotland Lane field on Friday night.

Sergeant and Campbell hurled for the First Christians and held the Seventh Warders to a pair of hits, and fanned eight men between them. Goodfellow and Wilson pitched for the Mahonings and were found for eight hits.

The hitting of McConahy, P. Hoskins and A. Hoskins featured.

Picnic parties are beginning to swamp local parks. It looks like a big year for chiggers.

The family packs up early for a quick take-off. Unless they're lucky enough to have punctures the flivver soon chugs them away to their doom.

After finding a highly infested spot they start holding a picnic, which is the only place where people eat boiled eggs and soft ice cream and say they like it.

Olives, too, are a popular dish at outings, because they are about the only food you can eat with ants and not know it.

The average picnic starts out as a pleasure trip and ends up as nothing but a rodeo for mosquitoes.

About 2 o'clock, when baby has stopped bawling, it is discovered that Junior has spent the day collecting spiders.

* * *

The picnic always breaks up at sundown or rain fall. It makes very little difference. Everybody is mad, just the same.

Planes To Make Supreme Effort To Find Nobile

Three Powerful Machines Are Enroute For Spitzbergen To Join Search

(International News Service)

KING'S BAY, Spitzbergen, June 16. Three powerful seaplanes are enroute for Spitzbergen today to make a supreme effort to save Gen. Umberto Nobile and his stranded companions. They are the French plane piloted by Commander Guilbaud; the Italian seaplane piloted by Major Penso, and the Swedish plane Upland.

Hope is running strong that these seaplanes may be able to effect a landing upon open water near the floe upon which the explorers sought refuge when the Italia was wrecked. In addition, there are two other planes already on the north coast to aid the rescue work, one piloted by Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen and the other by Lieut. Lutzow Holm.

The two Russian icebreakers — Krassin and Maligin—which are enroute to Foyne Island both carry seaplanes.

The ice pack upon which Gen. Nobile and his companions were stranded has drifted considerable in the past few days and is out of sight of land, according to the latest word from the Citta Di Milano. At last reports the floe was being carried westward by a strong east wind.

Mountaineer Uses Flivver To Kill Bear

Puts "Lizzies" Bearings In His Shotgun To Slay Beast

ELKINS, W. Va., June 16.—Joe Arnold is a mountaineer and a great hunter. Yesterday Joe was minus a rifle and a bear was near his cabin. His shotgun was on the racks but the old hunter had no slugs that would fit it.

And then Joe's ingenuity asserted itself—with the aid of "Lizzie." He removed the small shot from several gun shells and took some ball bearings from the car.

With the bearings from the flivver, Joe reloaded his shotgun shells and started for the bear which had been killing his sheep.

At the first shot Joe put a couple of "Lizzie's" little pellets into the bear seriously wounding it. Another shot and the bear dropped dead.

Arnold stated today that the flivver is still running.

Father And Son Fight Duel To Death In Woods

THAYER, Mo., June 16.—James Perkins, 47, a farmer, was killed and his son, Frank, 24, received wounds from which he died late yesterday in a gun duel in the woods west of here.

The father and son were returning from a country dance at 2:30 a. m. when they quarreled and decided to fight it out. Asked as to the reason for the quarrel the son said it was "nobody's business except Dad and I."

A farmer found the wounded men. He got a truck and started with them to Thayer, stopping en route to call an ambulance. The father died before the ambulance arrived.

The son died later.

Four Contagious Cases Reported

Four new cases of contagious illness today were reported to the city health department. The patients follow:

Alice Bodendorfer, 1506 Huron avenue; measles.

June Kannenberg, 428 Winter avenue; mumps.

William and Katherine Peters, 8 and 6, 1508 Huron avenue; measles.

MUNDO PITCHES ONE-HIT GAME

Mundo on the knoll for the West Pittsburg Garlands pitched a one-hit game last night as the Garlands downed the South Hill team 10 to 1, in an American section, Twilight League game.

The South Hill team could do nothing with the trick delivery of Mundo and eleven of them breezed the air, before his fast slants. The game was marred to some extent by eight errors, five by the Garlands and three by South Hill. Jenkins on the mound for the South Hill team was found for eleven hits.

Hitting homers went to Beatrice, R. Elsesser, Onicka and Mundo. Richards had the only hit allowed the South Hill team.

Italians Defeat Edenburg 4 To 2

The Italian A. C. defeated Edenburg 4 to 2 in a postponed National section Twilight league game played at the Edenburg field on Friday night. By virtue of their victory the Italians advanced to third place in the league standing.

Walter Kirker earned a well deserved victory over the strong Edenburg team, holding them to ten hits, fanning seven men and issuing but two free passes. In addition to his pitching Kirker had two hits off Hofmeister, a single and double. "Tippy" Richards drove home the winning run with a double that scored Guinaugh. Richards, Cialella, Kirker and Fahey were heavy hitters for the Italians, with Phillips, Black and Myers leading the attack for the Edenburg team.

On Monday night the Italian A. C. will play the newly organized Radiator A. C. team at Centennial field. The game will start at 6 o'clock. There is lots of interest in this game, due to the fact that the Radiators have signified their intention of stopping the winning streak of the Italians.

Babe Ruth Hits His 24th Homer

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 16.—George Herman Ruth's 24th homer of the season, made yesterday off Crowder of the St. Louis Browns, puts him seven games ahead of his last year's record. He is nine up on Buster Gehrig, his closest contender.

Jim Bottomley contributed his 13th circuit clout of the campaign, going into a tie with Rogers Hornsby for home run hitting laurels in the National league.

ALIQUIPPA SCHOOLS ON ALL YEAR BASIS

ALIQUIPPA Pa., June 16.—Aliquippa grade schools will be placed on an all year basis on Monday July 23 when three-fourths of the pupils enrolled will return to school for the new term and will remain in session until October 15. The purpose of the new plan is to relieve the overcrowded condition.

The city had an enrollment of 4,700 on June 5 the close of the last session. Superintendent H. R. Vanderslice stated that the high school will likely be placed on the all-year-round basis in September.

There's no Monroe doctrine to affect Africa, so just anybody is free to sic marines on little countries there.

FRY FOUND GUILTY OF ENTERING BUILDING

Vernon E. Fry was found guilty as indicted by a jury in court yesterday afternoon in a case in which he was charged with breaking and entering the office of the Consumers' Gasoline association on South Mill street. The case was tried before Judge Hildebrand.

Plumbing Violation Hearing Is Held

Hamilton Street Resident Is Stopped In Making Plumbing Repairs

Hearing of John Soroka, 1217 Hamilton street was given a hearing this morning before Mayor William H. Gillespie on a charge of having violated the plumbing code which was made by Plumbing Inspector E. S. Stevenson.

In the hearing it was brought out that Soroka had put in a bathtub in old styled home and also made some extensions of the plumbing system of the house which were not in accordance with the plumbing code and also contrary to the provisions of the code which prohibit others than master plumbers from doing this work. The work was also done in such a manner as to be a menace to the health of Soroka and his family.

He agreed to have a plumber put the work in proper condition and have the plumbing inspector inspect it and was not fined.

N. Y. STOCKS

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, June 16.—Selling pressure on the industrial market leaders was promptly resumed in the short session of the stock market today and prices continued the downward movement which was in progress at Friday's close. This "secondary reaction" following Tuesday's drastic decline was not unexpected, and its effect will be to place a more reasonable and sensible relation between corporation earnings and stock prices.

The week-end business reviews reported plenty of interruptions to the orderly conduct of business this week, including politics, the weather, the money markets and the approach of the summer dull season. Bradstreet's reported purely commercial dealings restricted to narrow limits for this season of the year, with commodity prices not holding as well as last year.

Radio, General Motors and other market favorites were pushed downward without interruption in the first hour as the result of persistent selling pressure.

Wright Aero lost about 6 points in the first half-hour, and Radio declined 6½ to 160, while General Motors reacted 2 points to 175½ and United States Steel broke through 138 to the lowest price on the current movement. The coppers and specialties were unable to withstand selling wave without moderate recessions in prices, in Many cases reacting the low levels of the week.

Strength of the oil stocks was again exhibited, in the face of persistent selling, and had its basis in the prospect of one or more increases in crude oil prices at the height of the consuming season. It was reported that the Rockefellers were selling Atlantic Refining stock to the Detroit Fisher interests at 130, about 4 points above current quotations and 16 points above the low price of the week. This accounts for the sharp rise in the stock in the last two days. Standard Oil of New York and New Jersey were again under accumulation, and numerous large blocks of stock passed through the market.

Trading slowed down near the end of the first hour, and the tickers were in position to report sales without contractions on the tape. Intermittant rallies in the steel and motor stocks restored a portion of the losses sustained in the first period, Radio rebounding sharply to around 165.

Spirited rallies in the steel, motor, oil and industrial stocks in the final period restored the bulk of the early losses, and the market was firm at the close.

General Motors and Radio which had been under selling pressure in the first hour, led the final rally, and U S Steel spurted to above 139. Wright Aero and other specialties recorded their best prices near the close. Railroad stocks were inactive but firm. Transactions were slightly in excess of 1,100,000 shares.

Martin Forecasts General Approval For Party Ticket

General Edward Martin Says Entire State And National Ticket Will Be Elected

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 16.—General Edward Martin, auditor general and Republican State chairman, forecast unanimous approval for the state and national ticket at the fall elections on his return here today. General Martin asserted that "jockeying for position" by county leaders would not be tolerated during the coming campaign. "The leaders will be asked to support the entire ticket," General Martin said, "and we are going out with the intention of putting over the entire Republican ticket."

Observations and conversations in France have convinced him, General Martin asserted, of the need of a high protective tariff. He based his assertion on the belief that European countries now are almost entirely recovered from the effects of the war and because of the lower scale of wages and living conditions which prevail there.

Paying tribute to the attitude of the special contingent which dedicated the memorials, General Martin said, that he never has seen such behavior in so large a body of men. The memorials and the men who dedicated them are a credit to Pennsylvania, he added.

Mussolini Eyes U. S. Developments

(International News Service)

ROME, June 16.—Premier Mussolini, who is intensely interested in all things American, followed closely the events at Kansas City. While he made no public comment he eagerly scanned dispatches bearing upon the American political situation.

MOSTLY FAIR WEATHER PROMISE FOR WEEK

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Weather outlook for the period June 18 to 23 inclusive.

North and Middle Atlantic States: Showers the early part of the week, followed by mostly fair weather the latter part and moderate temperatures at the beginning and the end of the week, with cooler the middle of the week.

London Forecasts Hoover Victory

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 16.—A prediction that Herbert Hoover will be the next president of the United States was printed by the conservative newspaper Daily Express today. Commenting upon the American political possibilities the newspaper forecast that "Great Britain might expect a sympathetic attitude from Mr. Hoover if he enters the White House because of his intimate knowledge of the British people."

The liberal newspaper Daily News prophesied that Mr. Hoover's political opponents probably will make as much capital as possible of the fact that he lived for many years in England and other parts of Europe.

Missing Bureau Worker Is Found

William A. Moore, Director Of Land Bureau At Harrisburg Missing For Month

(International News Service)

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., June 16.—William A. Moore, director of the Land bureau of the Department of Internal Affairs at Harrisburg, who has been missing since May 18, was reported to have been located here today.

According to police here, his son, Nathan Moore, is now on his way here, having received a message at Harrisburg, stating that his father had been found in this city.

School Girl Has Perfect Record

JEANETTE, Pa. June 16. — Margaret Costell, 13, who makes her home with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad of Locust street, has a school record of six and one-half years that is hard to surpass. During that period she has not missed a day or been tardy.

She started at Farrell at the beginning of school after the Christmas vacation and had a perfect record in the Farrell school of three years. She came to Jeannette four years ago over the week end in March and has a perfect record of almost four years in the Jeannette schools, holding certificates of attendance and two gold seals. Miss Costell will enter the eighth grade at the opening of school next fall and hopes to complete her education without missing a day in school.

Clyde Ailey Goes On Western Trip

Leaves For West After Attending National Convention At Kansas City

Attorney Clyde V. Ailey, member of the Republican State Committee from Lawrence county, was present at the sessions of the Republican National Convention, which came to a close Friday at Kansas City, Mo.

He left at once on an extended Western tour during which he will visit Denver and other points of interest enroute to California. He expects to tour California extensively. He plans to return to this city the last of August.

Thirty Killed In Clash In Warsaw

(International News Service)

WARSAW, June 16.—One hundred thousand unemployed workers staged a huge demonstration in Moscow during which they clashed with the police and 30 persons were killed and 127 wounded, dispatches from unofficial sources in the Soviet capital stated today.

The clashes occurred when government soldiers attempted to disperse the demonstrators. The latter put up stubborn opposition and attempted to overcome the soldiers.

In the melee, many were trampled upon by the horses of the soldiers. Twelve of those who were killed were soldiers.

Doctor Directs Own Operation; Will Survive

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 16.—A doctor who, facing death, calmly directed the draining of his own left lung, is on the road to recovery here today in a hospital.

Dr. Clyde Jensen, 26-year-old pathologist, a week ago, while assisting in an autopsy was infected by bacterian lodging in his lung. Death was imminent according to other physicians. At the crucial moment he rallied. Fully conscious and directing the work in a weak voice, he superintended the draining of his lung. The three doctors who performed the operation said today Dr. Jensen would recover.

Paralyzed Boy Dictates Answers To Examination

(International News Service)

MILTON, Mass., June 16.—It takes pluck for a lad to make a flying tackle on the football gridiron or to whirl off two miles on the track, but the courage of a Cleveland, O., boy—paralyzed for a year and unable to write—had the "prep" school world on edge today.

Arms lying useless at his side, but refusing to admit defeat in his adversity, Charles Bolton, son of State Senator Chester C. Bolton, of Ohio, dictated his final examinations to a stenographer at Milton academy while his mates were scratching away with pen and ink. He will use the same methods in taking entrance examinations to Harvard. Today he was in his place at the graduating exercises at the academy.

A year ago the youth was captain-elect of Milton academy track team and he engaged in other sports. He was an expert swimmer.

Last August he offered his services as councilor at a camp at Sharon, conducted by the Elizabeth Peabody House of Boston. While teaching the children of the poor how to dive, his head hit a rock in Sharon pond. He was instantly paralyzed.

For many weeks the senator's son was confined to a cot in Peter Bent Brigham hospital, Boston. In the fall he was taken home to Cleveland and later to Palm Beach, Florida. Operations were performed. Through it all the lad entitled to wear the letter "M" on his sweater and longing to be back at his school, kept "smiling through." He never admitted defeat. During the winter he became well enough to study he was tutored and later returned to Milton.

Driver Is Released Under $1,000 Bond

ZELIENOPLE, Pa., June 16.—Charged with being the driver of a "hit and run" automobile which was responsible for an accident on the Evans City road, L. J. Schnorr of 723 Wynore avenue, Pittsburgh, was held for court when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Nevins at Zelienople. He was released on $1,000 bail.

Patrolmen of the state constabulary testified that while Schnorr was attempting to pass an automobile driven by a Mr. Langley of Bishop, his automobile struck the front fender of the other car and knocked the automobile over an embankment. Both Langley and an occupant of his car, Miss Mary Wise of Bridgeville, were slightly injured.

Improvements At Boy Scout Camp

Electricity To Be Provided At Camp From P.-O. Company Lines This Year

CAMP WILL OPEN FOR SUMMER ON JUNE 19

When Camp Phillips opens officially June 19 for the first two weeks Boy Scout camping period of the season, many improvements will be noticed by the scouts who attended the camp last summer, is the opinion of J. Lee Calahan, the scout executive of the Lawrence County Council and LeRoy Norton, the camp director.

One of the chief improvements will be the extension of the city light and power service to the camp, thus eliminating the somewhat uncertain gas engine generator system which has been in operation for the past few years. Already the poles are set, and all that remains is for linemen from the power company to place wires, and the gas engines can be done away with.

Another thing that is quite new at the camp is the Indian Village, which will be in charge of John Boston, one of the outstanding scouts of the local council. This is situated in the gorge, almost on the brink of the Slippery Rock creek, and for those interested in Indian lore, should be one of the most interesting places in the camp.

Added to the Indian Village there will be a colony of cliff dwellers, who will live high up on the rocks of the gorge in specially constructed leantos. Then there will also be the new Charles McConnell Memorial cabin, now almost completely finished, in which the scoutleaders will stay when their troops are in camp.

"But the Lawrence County Council needs money; it needs more money than possibly will be furnished by the Community Chest, if the project is to be carried out in the way that it should," states Louis B. Round, who for years has been identified with the Boy Scout movement in the county. "Although there have been many donations by the civic clubs, yet the men who have caught the vision are men of moderate incomes. They are willing to donate money, but they are not in the position to give freely nor to give in large sums.

"There are many things at Camp Phillips which should be done, and, with the aid of Lawrence county's public spirited citizens, will be done. But it will take the help of everyone. And the project is worthy; in fact, I believe that there is nothing in the county, yes, even in the country, which is doing more good and getting less support, than the Boy Scout movement."

Separate Sick Hogs From Herd

State Vetenarian Advises Against Spread Of Hog Diseases

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 15. — Swine growers lose heavily each year because of failure to separate newly purchased animals from the rest of the heard, Dr. John Winstanley, special field agent on swine diseases for the Pennsylvania bureau of animal husbandry, said today.

Swine purchased from any source should be separated from the home herd for a period of 20 to 30 days, Winstanley asserted. This plan is not only important in the prevention of hog cholera, but it is also an excellent precautionary measure for other swine diseases, he added.

Winstanley cited the case of a grower who purchased a sow at a public sale and introduced her into his herd at once. The entire herd died of hog cholera.

The importance of treating all members of a herd where the double serum and virus treatment is employed was emphasized. Hogs treated with virus may become spreaders of hog cholera, it was pointed out, for a brief period after inoculation.

GIRL ON CYCLE DIES IN CRASH

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 16.—Emma Jones Fentyel 23, Cherry street, Breckenridge, was killed and Ernest Viock, Breckenridge, on the handlebars of whose motorcycle she was riding, was injured yesterday, when the machine collided in the Culmerville road, near Bakerstown, with an automobile driven by Viock's stepfather, Harry Viock, who was turned over to the coroner and lodged in the county jail. The girl was catapulted over an embankment. Viock was taken to the Allegheny Valley hospital, Tarentum with a broken leg and a broken hand A brother identified the body.

EX-CONVICT ADMITS HE KILLED FARMER

MORGANTOWN, W. V., June 16.—Laurence Fike pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in the slaying of Elroy Leonard, Preston county farmer, reiterating in court a confession police said he made to them following his arrest last week. Sentence was not pronounced.

Fike has served two terms in the state penitentiary at Moundsville.

Make Reports Of Auto Accidents

Number Of Mishaps In Traffic Are Reported To Police Headquarters

Frank Weich, of 27 Spring street, was slightly injured Friday, when struck by the car of H. Brady, 409 Hutchison street, at the West Washington street bridge.

According to the report made by Mr. Brady, he was driving west on West Washington street at the end of the bridge over the Shenango river, when this boy ran out on the street and into his machine.

Mr. Brady had the boy taken to the office of a physician, who found that the boy had not been seriously injured, his injuries consisting largely of a bad bruise of the left thigh.

Grove Daney of Volant R. D. No. 2, reported Friday that he was enroute north on North Jefferson street, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 49-408, also enroute north on the street, crashed into and damaged his car.

Robert Newell of 429 East Garfield avenue, reported Friday that while his machine was parked on Highland avenue near Boyles avenue, that a machine bearing Pennsylvania license 604-527 also enroute north on Highland avenue, made a right hand turn into Boyles avenue, just as Newell pulled out from the curb. The Newell machine hit the rear end of the other machine, doing some damage to both.

Demolish Old Mine At Stoneboro, Pa.

Mine Installed For $200,000 Sold As Junk For $3,000

MERCER, Pa., June 16.—The demolishing of what was once a valuable coal mine, worth hundreds of thousands of dollars starts today it is announced by Joe Buntman local junk dealer who bought at bankrupt sale the equipment of the mine at Stoneboro of the Mercer Iron and Coal company.

Buntman reports that the stuff bought will load 25 railroad cars.

The Pennsylvania company are now repairing their tracks into the mine to get out this train load of stuff.

Still, the advocate of personal liberty and individuality functions much like a member of the herd when he decides to buy a straw hat.

ABE MARTIN On Liver

AN EARLY LIVER RUSH

One o' th' notable an' outstandin' results o' untirin' scientific research is th' present day interest in liver. Th' medical world has discovered that liver is a cure fer pernicious anemia, an' th' newspapers wuz quick t' see th' news value o' this astoundin' discovery an' gave it wide publicity. Nothin' since General Motors has taken th' spurt that liver has. Yisterday it closed at 70 cents a pound, an' many are buyin' up liver an' puttin' it on ice. Not so many years ago liver wuz not regarded as edible in th' higher stations o' society. Anyhow it wuz not mentioned, or discussed, or eaten publicly by highbrows. It's open consumption, until recently, wuz confined almost entirely t' ordinary people. However, it is not improbable that liver wuz sneaked into some very classy homes as fer back as th' seventies, fer ther's never been a time when liver couldn't muster a respectable number o' fans in any walk in life. But liver has had its troubles the same as carrots an' spinich, an' it must be said that its present popularity is extremely belated. Some very prominent people used t' buy liver fer th' cat when it wuz really fer th' table, an' many a leadin' citizen has filled up on liver when he wuz pickled in th' ole saloon days. Indeed, fried liver used t' be one o' th' leadin' decoys fer th' average bar. Many an important an' well-t'-do business man used t' watch th' clock waitin' fer liver time at Joe's place. Many a man missed his liver fer more'n his beer when th' country went dry. But liver never got a foothold in the better homes till medical science dignified it. "Oh, we used t' sell a little liver, but nothin' t' brag on, nothin' big, but t'day it's all grabbed up long before th' poor people who used t' buy it quit work. I've got some hid under th' counter now fer a poor family, but usually it's first come, first served," remarked a butcher t'day. Liver at 70 cents a pound is really cheap when we consider th' price o' ox tails an' spare ribs an' lamb chops. Ther's lots o' waste t' ox tails an' spareribs, an' lamb chops are usually all handle. Liver is free from bones an' outside rind. It don't shrink an' curl up like round steaks. Sometimes liver is foll o' G strings, but they kin be clipped with a wire cutter. Ther's no waste t' liver but th' butcher's thumb. Liver's rather slushy t' carry, an' kind o' sticky t' fool with, but after it once gits on th' table you've got somethin'. Dr. Mopps is very enthusiasitc about liver, an' declares th' day is not fer distant when cattle 'll be raised fer ther livers alone. O' course, if times ever git real hard it won't be as easy t' retrench, now that liver has come int' its own. "Gimme some liver like th' saloons used t' fix it," demanded a customer at th' Little Gem Cafe, recently.

To Start Japanese Beetle Quarantine

Transportation Of Vegetables, Known As Beetle Carriers Forbidden

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 15. — Agents of the State Department of Agriculture co-operating with the Federal government today began initial steps in the establishing of the quarantine against the Japanese beetle. Although the uniformed patrolmen will not take their posts until after July 1 when the bettle is expected to become active, other restrictive measures were imposed today. The quarantine affects all southwestern and central counties.

Transportation from the infected area of vegetables of any kind known as beetle carriers is forbidden except after inspection and proper certification. No restrictions are placed on the movement of Irish potatoes and sweet potatoes when free from soil, watermelons, dried fruits and vegetables, seeds, grains and muchrooms.

Guards to prevent the movement of banned vegetables will be placed at several points near Harrisburg, Sunbury, Lewisburg, Muncy, Pittston, Clark's Summit, Clifford, Carbondale, Gouldsboro and Bushkill Falls.

The guards on the highways will not be authorized to issue inspection certificates. Offices for inspection will be maintained at Milton, Scranton, Holmesburg, Harrisburg, Lancaster and Norristown.

Officials who are directing the drive against the beetle said that more attention will be directed this season on the use of sprays to fight the insects. One of the largest community sprayings is planned for Jenkintown.

The importance of the beetle fight was emphasized by officials who pointed out the danger of other states placing an embargo on products from Pennsylvania. This move would seriously affect the market for Pennsylvania's products, especially apples, peaches and nursery stock.

BIGAMIST SENTENCED YEAR TO WORKHOUSE

BUTLER, Pa., June 16.—M. E. Hess, alias E. M. Hayes, convicted in Butler court of having two wives at the same time, was sentenced by Judge John R. Henninger to serve one year in the Allegheny county workhouse, pay the costs and a fine of $200.

Hays admitted that he had deserted his wife and two children in Midland, Pa., nine years ago, assuming the name of Hays when he came to Butler about five years ago. Evidence showed that he had married a woman in Parnassus last August.

CAR FIRE DAMAGE PLACED AT $100,000

GREENVILLE, Pa., June 16—Workmen are attempting to clear away the smouldering debris left on the New York Central railroad, Franklin branch, as the result of the derailment and burning of 29 cars of oil and other merchandise. Although the blaze has subsided, the wrecked cars were still so hot that the work of clearing away the wreckage was delayed. It was expected that new ties and rails would not be laid before late today.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

There is rather an especial birthday to celebrate today. This is the anniversary of a dear old friend who is old only in years. Mrs. Eliza Gibson, "Aunt Eliza" who is a guest in the Almira Home is 89 years of age today but you'd never guess it to talk to her.

She still does some of the most difficult fancy work you want to see, and reads the New Castle News from front to back every night. It's a habit that has grown on Aunt Eliza since the day the News first started. She has seen it grow from a tiny thing to its present size and it's a good guess that there are few readers who read it as thoroughly as does she.

There will be a lot of people in her room in the Almira Home today. Some of them are now grown men with responsible positions, but Aunt Eliza still remembers them as farefooted youngsters who played around her door years ago. And they're not old enough yet to escape her homely advice.

One particular group of boys she saw grow to manhood was the Dirty Dozen, which was an organization composed of young men who belied the name. For some reason they took this peculiar name for their organization and grew up down on the South Side. Mrs. Gibson knew them all, loved them all, and many the piece of bread and jam the Dirty Dozen got. Some of them are still in town and it's a good guess they'll be up there today.

Met a chap yesterday afternoon I've wanted to see for three years. Strictly in a professional capacity however. The young man in question did a job of carving a fellow workman some three years ago and while it was just too bad for the other fellow, the technique of the first chap, insofar as using a knife is concerned was well nigh perfect. Up in the county jail he told me the story of how he cut the fellow's throat. But the recounting of it has no place in this column.

Now that Hoover and Curtis are the nominees of the Republican Party, who will be the first wag to suggest that after next March there will be some Curtisy in the vice president's office? The nomination of Curtis should satisfy Will Rogers for both of them boast of Indian blood in their veins.

And with the Indians they have in the United States Senate, perhaps an Indian in the chair will have some effect.

Some of the folks on the South Side are wondering when the resurfacing of Long avenue from Hamilton to Belmont will start. It will be considerable improvement to resurface that piece of paving.

WOMAN NOT WITCH SO JUSTICE DECIDES

DONORA, Pa., June 16.—Mrs. Anna Marin of 53o Prospect avenue does not have supernatural powers. This was decided at a hearing before Squire Erdelyi yesterday afternoon. She charged Marin Knezovic with calling her a witch at a christening held recently at the Marin home Knezovic said that Mrs. Marin had revealed to him certain details of his past life which could be known only through some special agency. Knezovis agreed to pay the costs and Mrs. Marin and her 25 witnesses left the court room in seeming vindication.

Speedboats Start Gruelling Derby

Five Speedboats Start Early Today On 250-Mile Course In Big Race

(International News Service)

BOSTON, June 9.—Old Sol had just looked over the horizon today when thirty-five outboard speedboats began to roar their way over the 250 miles of water from this port to Flushing, Long Island. It was the start of the hardest water marathon in the history of outboard motor boating.

Ideal racing conditions greeted the swirling little craft as they sped across Massachusetts Bay to Cape Cod Canal.

Some of the best known racers in the sport were entered. Not unmindful of the hazards officials of the New England Outboard Association and the United States coastguard cooperated to protect the fleet of contestants. Forty coastguard craft and four United States destroyers formed a protecting arm for the long grind to the canal, across Buzzards Bay and down Vineyard and Long Island Sounds.
